COOLIDGE PRAISES WORK OF AVIATORS

Department Will Urge Congress to Make Service Permanent

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The second consignment of transcontinental mail to be delivered from New York to San Francisco this week in record time, arrived here at 1:45 p. m. Pacific time. The elapsed time required for the mail shipment to cross the continent was 29 hours, 44 minutes.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
MINEOLA, L. I., Aug. 23.—Letters mailed in San Francisco yesterday arrived here early this afternoon.

The post office department's second attempt to span the continent with mail within twenty-eight hours ended when the airplane guided by Pilot Collins on the last lap of the eastward flight landed at Hazelhurst Field at 12:21 p. m. standard time.

The mail left San Francisco at 5:26 a. m. yesterday. It was transferred to fresh machines with new pilots at several points en route.

The elapsed unofficial time from San Francisco to Mineola was 27 hours and 55 minutes.

Fastest train time between San Francisco and New York is four and a half days.

Almost before the fleet mail plane had halted after its landing wheels had touched the field a United States air mail truck was dashing alongside. Several men leaped from the car and began transferring mail sacks from the ship to the truck. Before the pilot could alight the men had finished the task and were rushing the mail to the postoffice.

It was the end of an epoch making journey.

Although a plane from the west arrived here yesterday afternoon it did not carry mail from San Francisco because the San Francisco ship was delayed in Wyoming by a dense fog. Mail which left New York Tuesday arrived in San Francisco last evening in 34 hours and 24 minutes. This plane also was delayed in the fog.

THIRD NEW YORK PLANE LEAVES FOR PACIFIC COAST
MINEOLA, L. I., Aug. 23.—The third westward transcontinental mail plane piloted by Wesley L. Smith left Hazelhurst at 11:56 a. m. daylight saving time.

THIRD PLANE HOPS OFF FROM S. F. FIELD
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The third air plane to leave San Francisco with transcontinental mail in the five-fastest flight now being conducted by the postoffice department, got away from Crissy Field at 6 a. m. Pacific time.

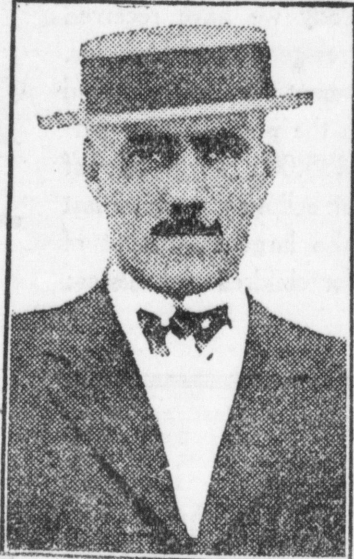

The plane was piloted by Burr H. Winslow and carried seven pouches of mail, weighing 115 pounds.

WILL ASK CONGRESS FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS.
OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 23.—Congress will be asked to appropriate money to make permanent transcontinental air mail service such as is now being tried out between New York and San Francisco, Colo. Paul Henderson, assistant postmaster general declared today.

COOLIDGE PRAISES WORK OF MAIL PLANE FLYERS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Coolidge today expressed his gratification over the results of the trial flights to establish a 28-hour transcontinental air mail service.

The president voiced his pleasure at the achievement of the air mail pilots to Postmaster General New, who called at the White House today to report to Mr. Coolidge on the progress of the modern "pony express."

Lewis, President United Mine Workers of America.

ATTACK STATE OFFICIALS AS BANK CLOSURES

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 23.—Depositors this morning stormed the banking institution of the Interstate Trust company, state bank, in protest against a closing order issued before the opening hour at the request of the president of the bank.

A petition is reported being circulated among depositors asking removal of state bank examiners, for alleged incompetency. This was the second state bank to close in Denver within the past few weeks, both having issued satisfactory quarterly reports on June 30.

The bank was placed in the hands of an examiner following a night session of the directors. No statement of cause of the action will be made until later in the day, it was said.

Total resources of the institution as given in the bank statement of June 30, were $2,714,850.41 and deposits at that time $2,438,418.70.

WATERS SHORTAGE PERILS SOMAHA

GIANT BOMBING PLANE MAKES TRIAL TRIP

DAYTON, Aug. 23.—Another great achievement was recorded by the American army air service today.

The Barling bomber, monster of the skies, by lifting its bulk of twenty tons to a height of 2,500 feet and hurling itself through the air at a speed of 93 miles an hour, had advanced the science of aviation another step in its long struggle against the force of gravity.

The gigantic machine left the ground at 6:18 p. m. yesterday for its initial flight and within 31 seconds was off the ground and nosing its way toward the clouds.

It reached a maximum altitude of 2,500 feet and traveled a distance of from 25 to 30 miles.

The ship has a wing spread of 120 feet, is 65 feet long, 28 feet high and weighs more than 40,000 pounds.

Lieut. Harold Harris was the chief pilot during the flight. His assistant was Lieut. Muir S. Fairchild and the engineer was Douglas Culber.

BIG ICE CREAM FIRM TO HAVE S. A. PLANT

Prepared to spend between $40,000 and $50,000 in the construction of a modern plant designed to serve Santa Ana and Orange county, the L. J. Christopher Ice Cream company of Los Angeles today completed arrangements for a brick and concrete building to be situated at East Fourth and Terminal streets.

"We have felt for some time," said S. C. Hookstratten, representing the company, that Santa Ana is the logical center for our third plant. We have a plant in Los Angeles and another at Long Beach.

"We will finish the Santa Ana plant as speedily as possible, and hope to occupy our new home within three months."

"The Christopher company will employ ten or fifteen men in the Santa Ana plant, using as much local product as possible and employing local people. A fleet of four trucks will serve Santa Ana, Orange, Huntington Beach, Fullerton, Anaheim and other nearby cities.

"We regard this as one of the best locations in Southern California. It is hoped that we may be functioning in our Santa Ana plant by December 1."

COLD SEASON FAR AHEAD OF TIME

Winter Garments Appear As Freezing Weather Sweeps East

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The first cold weather of approaching autumn swept over the north half of the United States today, a month ahead of the time it is due, and sent temperatures down generally to the forties and fifties, in some cases to freezing.

Freezing and frosts were reported in parts of the northwest, withering garden crops. Indicating the freakishness of the "sun strike," the official temperature at Duluth was 41, while a short distance away it was reported at 32.

Martin and teal began their flight south over the Great Lakes, a fortnight earlier than usual. Straw-hats were being discarded in cities as far north as Chicago and the northwest, as well as in the St. Lawrence valley.

Top coats were comfortable over the cold wave area.

Warmer weather is forecast for tomorrow.

The advance fall styles were rushed here today when Riverside Drive dogs appeared in overcoats. Belted models in plaids were popular. The temperature was 57 at 10 o'clock. Haberdashers reported a run on caps.

POTATO VINES SUFFER AS TEMPERATURE DROPS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 23.—Freezing temperatures were reported prevailing early today in different parts of the northwest. Frost withered potato vines at Anoka. Near Duluth temperatures were reported at 32 degrees.

BIRDS START SOUTH IN FACE OF COLD SPELL

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A cold wave blanketed the middle west and northeast early today, sending Martin and teal flying southward and causing temperatures to drop to the forties and fifties.

Starting in the northwest yesterday, the chilly raw weather spread up the St. Lawrence river and into the southwest.

Warm weather was promised for this afternoon.

The unusually early flight of migratory birds was declared by weather experts to presage an early winter. The flights are two weeks ahead of schedule.

The weather bureau said the temperatures were the lowest in August in ten years.

Urges Ban on Trick Names on Menu Cards

FT. WORTH, Tex., Aug. 23.—The International towards' association in annual session here today, set out to make menu cards safe for diners.

Delegates at the convention went on record in favor of calling "potage gray" plain "carrot soup" and "potage du Barry" "cream of cauliflower soup."

Marion H. Mazer, St. Louis, declared "food should be called by its name in the language spoken by the people served."

Practically all hotels are discarding trick French names, Mazer said.

COURT HITS I. W. W. IN NEW RULING

Injunction Granted by Sacramento Judge Deprives Members of Jury Trials.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 23.—An injunction that will "do away with long and tedious trials" for members of the I. W. W. and make them subject to six months jail sentences for contempt of court upon proof of membership, was granted by Judge Charles O. Busick today.

Under the terms of the injunction, I. W. W. members may be imprisoned without jury trials.

Attorneys for the I. W. W. were laying plans today to take advantage of every opportunity open to them to defeat the injunction in the court that granted it. Failing in that they will carry the case as soon as possible to the state supreme court, they announced.

NEW PARLEY ON GERMAN DEBTS BRITISH AIM

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The cabinet met today and approved the reply of Premier Poincare to the British reparations note as published yesterday. There was every indication that the entire nation is united in support of the premier's policy. France is convinced Germany can pay and she will stay in the Ruhr until the payments are made.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Prime Minister Baldwin and Foreign Minister Curzon may meet Premier Poincare in Paris in the near future to discuss convoking a new allied conference to discuss reparations, it was learned reliably here this afternoon.

That the French reply to the British reparations note is "extremely disappointing" was learned from well informed sources.

While the government still declined official comment, pending receipt of the Belgian reply, there was no secret that little hope could be gleaned from Poincare's uncompromising statement of the French position.

It was admitted, however, that Poincare's statement was cleverly worded and that separate action by Great Britain would be difficult without affording France an opportunity to make a strong appeal to world opinion.

In other words, the French premier still has kept Prime Minister Baldwin in the position of having to assume the major responsibility for a final rupture in the entente.

"30" BULLETINS

ANGORA, Aug. 23.—The Turkish national assembly today ratified the Lausanne treaty by a vote of 213 to 14. Turkey's signature to the document will end the historic Lausanne parley in which she adjusted war and postwar differences with the western powers.

Recovery of the body of J. W. Hague, 37, of Los Alamitos, who was drowned at Anaheim Landing Sunday, when it was washed up on the beach a short distance from the tragedy scene, was reported to authorities here today. The funeral has been set for Saturday at Long Beach. Hague leaves a widow.

FEAR DANGER OF TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Business Firms Claiming $5,000,000 Lost Plan to Sue City

(By United Press Leased Wire)
OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 23.—With 15,000 men out of employment because of a shut down of industries, the economic loss in Omaha's "water famine" today was declared to have mounted to more than $5,000,000.

Dr. A. M. Pinto, city health commissioner, also declared that danger of a typhoid epidemic is increasing hourly. The famine was caused by a Missouri river cave-in which filled city mains with mud, Tuesday.

Citizens today continued to obtain their principal water supply from a fire hose stretched from Council Bluffs. Although a slight improvement was noticeable in the city mains, the supply is still forty per cent mud. Relief is not expected for several days.

Thousands grouped about the hose, artesian wells and park springs, carrying water away in every sort of container. Street sprinkling wagons conveyed water to different sections of the city, pass it out from house to house.

Meanwhile a bitter political fight broke out over the water department. Business firms, claiming the cave-in resulted from negligence, are preparing damage suits against the city.

PETITIONS ASK FOR REMOVAL OF DOCTOR

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 23.—Faced with a written demand bearing 400 signatures for the dismissal of Dr. H. E. Morrison as superintendent of the county hospital, the county supervisors today continued with a long drawn out investigation of charges of negligence and inefficiency that have been made against him.

First, thirty nurses at the hospital signed accusations against Dr. Morrison. In addition to general charges of inefficiency and neglect of patients, there was a specific charge of drunkenness on duty.

The county supervisors, some of whom already have expressed themselves in sympathy with Dr. Morrison, and who helped him in the preparation of his defense, originally promised a decision in the matter today.

Physicians fear the girl may suffer permanent injury to her health through suffering. She refuses to be consoled and mourns as only a heartbroken girl can grieve.

In the meantime all Pueblo is giving "little black spaniels" a close scrutiny for identification marks and a careful search is being made along the Colorado Springs-Pueblo road where

JAIL WOMAN AS SUSPECT IN ROBBERY

Alleged Sweetheart of Supposed Train Bandit Leader and Nine Others Arrested.

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Aug. 23.—Nine men and a woman were held here this afternoon under guard by United States marshals in connection with the robbery of the "Katy" passenger train at Okesa early Tuesday.

Goldie Sates, said to be the sweetheart of Al Spencer, famous bandit of northwestern Oklahoma, was one of the suspects held for investigation and inspection by railroad men, expected here tonight.

Other prisoners held were: Henry Wells, alias Ike Ogg, arrested several days ago and held at Okesa, who was free under bond of $20,000 in connection with the robbery of the First State Bank at Dewey, several weeks ago; Charles Johnson, Howard Davis, Roscoe Smith, Bud Jenkins, Jack Philpot and Max Billingsly.

FLOOD CAUSES BIG LOSS IN LIVESTOCK

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 23.—A great wall of water rushing down the Arkansas valley on the already swollen river following the break in a reservoir on the Aplah-apa river, today carried with it hundreds of head of livestock and inundated a large portion of the cantaloupe crop which makes Rocky Ford, Colo., famous.

Water spread over a five mile area in some places, ruining crops and destroying most of the smaller animals on farms. A warning before the break occurred saved a probable heavy loss of human life.

The force of the flood was believed at its crest at Rocky Ford, and with the exception of La Junta, Colo., it was not believed further damage would be done by the torrent.

Latest reports of damage indicate that $1,000,000 is a conservative estimate. Approximately 1,000 feet of railroad track on the Santa Fe was weakened and trains are being delayed several hours in Pueblo pending repairs today.

The Aplah-apa reservoir was 100 feet deep and built to irrigate 20,000 acres of land. Should drought follow recent storm further damage may result to crops in the large irrigated districts.

RUMORS OF FEDERAL INJUNCTION SPREADING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor today received information that representatives of the department of justice are in Scranton, Pa., headquarters of the United Mine Workers, or were there recently, prepared to ask for an injunction to stop a strike in the anthracite fields.

The labor officials declared that this information came from a source that could "hardly be mistaken." The same report also came from an authoritative source here yesterday.

PLEDGE IS GIVEN TO LEWIS

Leaders of Bituminous Men Confer With Mine Union President

GOVERNMENT MOVES TO PROTECT PUBLIC

Rumors of Plan to Halt Tie-Up By Federal Injunction Spreading

WASHINGTON August 23.—President Coolidge does not intend to call the anthracite operators and miners back into conference for a new effort to avert the threatened strike, John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States coal commission, stated today. Announcement of the measures to be taken by the federal government may be made at a meeting of the commission tomorrow morning, Hammond indicated.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Co-operation of bituminous coal miners in district No. 2, in event of a walkout by their comrades in the anthracite fields was promised John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, here today by James Marks, president of the bituminous district.

Marks arrived here today with five associates at the request of Lewis, who asked the bituminous men to come to Atlantic City to talk over the situation. The men still were in conference early this afternoon while rumors of a walkout in the big bituminous district were in circulation.

VIEW OF LEADERS ON STRIKE RESULT CONFLICTING

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Suspension of anthracite mining September 1, may mean a coal famine, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, warned today.

At the same time, Samuel Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators' policy committee declared that such a suspension would mean no more than a "slight inconvenience" to consumers.

Expressing these conflicting views regarding the possible fate of the general public in the anthracite using states, this winter the chiefs of the operators and miners remained in their hotels here, each following a policy of "watchful waiting."

Warriner told the United Press today that if his coal mines are shut down Sept. 1, and the anthracite supply of the nation cut off, the bituminous output coupled with oil and other fuel substitutes could supply every national need.

Federal Indictments Charge Big Swindle in Sales of Army Goods

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Indictments were returned today before Federal Judge Bundy by a grand jury after investigation of alleged frauds in the disposal of war material which, in the cases under investigation, are said to have involved a $2,000,000 loss to the government.

Those indicted were Colonel L. M. Purcell, Seattle, chief of the sales division of the war department in 1920; John C. Skinner, chief sales division of the quartermaster corps; Henry Miller of H. Miller and company, merchants, New York City, and Henry H. Carter and Bertram Weiss, doing business as the Universal Sales corporation, New York City.

Carter and Weiss at once gave bail in the sum of $5,000. Colonel Purcell is on his way from Seattle to answer the charges.

It was evident today that Mr. Coolidge still banks heavily on influencing operators and miners to keep the mines running by threatening to flood the anthracite market with bituminous coal, coke, oil and other substitutes.

FAMED CAL. STAR'S COUSIN LIKES WEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Lotta Crabtree is in town! She slipped in quietly and unannounced. An undercurrent of excitement soon swept the place as people asked if the true Lotta, the playgirl of the West, had returned.

This Lotta proved to be the famous actress's cousin and namesake, who is in San Francisco on a pleasure trip. She is young, attractive and enthusiastic about many things.

She likes Western women and girls, declaring that they are much shier on makeup than Eastern women.

Lotta wore a simple blue gown of King Tut's characteristics, topped off by a small hat, which became her rather boyish face. "Yes, I like to sing and dance," she admitted, "but I am not going to follow in the footsteps of the famous Lotta. I expect to be a lawyer."

Lotta is preparing for her chosen career by studying law at Columbia university, and is putting in her clerkship with a firm in Wall street lawyers in her spare time. Her father, the late Albert Edward Crabtree, was a great admirer of his famous California cousin, who in her active stage life gathered in a cold $2,000,000.

Lake Comes, Goes; Residents Puzzled

NEDERLAND, Col., Aug. 23.—A lake that comes and goes, or "Disappearing lake," as it is known to local residents, is puzzling observers who have been studying the body of water for some time.

The lake, 200 feet long and approximately the same distance in width, is located at the east end of Arapahoe glacier, at the foot of the terminal moraine.

Last week the lake was nearly filled. A day or so later the waters had receded several feet. Later it rose again to its normal level. What becomes of the water is the subject of much discussion among naturalists and it is being studied with much interest.

There is a similar body of water near the Alaskan glaciers.

Four, Including Two Children, Die In Sea

EUREKA, Aug. 23.—Four people, two of them children, were drowned in swimming mishaps in Humboldt county, one of them being J. L. Brown, who was drowned after saving two others. Brown and two relatives, Mildred Brown and Irene Brown, and two friends, Alma Wilson and Elma King, were swimming in the Big Lagoon, a fresh water lake thirty-five miles north of Eureka, when the girls were drawn into a hole in the bottom of the lake and were unable to extricate themselves.

After a hard battle Brown succeeded in pulling Irene Brown and Elma King to safety, and he then returned for the others. Tired from his exertions, he was also drawn into the hole, which is believed to be an underground outlet for the waters of the lake.

The fourth person to drown was Mrs. Edith Hollingshead of San Francisco, who sank while swimming in the surf at Port Seward fifty miles south of here, and failed to reappear.

Woman Charged With Hospital Linen Theft

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—As a result of a secret investigation conducted by officials of the San Francisco hospital into the disappearance of several thousand dollars worth of linens and hospital supplies from the institution, Dr. E. B. Frick, superintendent, yesterday swore to a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. C. B. Clark, employee of the linen room. The charge is petty larceny, although Dr. Frick asserts that the actual larceny of supplies will amount to several thousand dollars, but he has no definite proof that this particular employee is guilty of all. The allegation made by Dr. Frick is that the woman has been shipping the purloined articles to some destination in Contra Costa county.

FOLLIES GIRL'S MATE STILL ISSOUGHT

With officers in every county in Southern California in possession of descriptions of Percy H. Douglas, said to be wanted by the government for alleged violation of the Mann act, and for bigamy by the state of New Jersey; for wife and child desertion, and by the Wickersheim Implement company of Fullerton for embezzlement of a car, J. R. Wolfe, credit manager of the latter firm, today declared no trace had been secured of the dapper salesman.

Mrs. Lesh Douglas, who is said to have been a member of the chorus of the Ziegfeld Follies before her marriage to Lawrence Lesh, New York radio inventor, and then to Douglas, is declared to have moved from Newport Beach to a secluded residence in Los Angeles.

In the meantime, the pretty stenographer in Hollywood whom federal authorities accuse Douglas of transporting for immoral purposes, has not as yet made known her location, it was said. Officers have expressed the opinion that if the pretty typist could be found Douglas also could be located quickly.

Letters written Douglas by his wife in New Jersey, and also by his 17-year-old daughter, "Billy," have been full of pathos, Wolfe said. In one, Miss Douglas recited how she had received the honor of delivering the Valedictory address for her high school class, but as she looked into the crowd, composed mostly of the parents of her schoolmates, her eyes were filled with tears as she thought of her own father so far away.

"You might as well stick a knife in our hearts as to leave us this way without providing support," the wife said in a letter.

The daughter said she had joined church at Eastertime and had been praying nightly for the return of her "daddy." She has been living with her stepmother since the death of her mother from influenza, but she declared she would leave the town if it would influence Douglas to return to his relatives and family in New Jersey.

Then he proved that he owned the auto. The court returned the car to him.

Recently, though, the state supreme court affirmed the two-year sentence imposed by the St. Louis court, and ordered him to prison. Prison officials also declared it was too late for the judge who sentenced Linder to take any action.

Students Save Co-Ed From Death In Blaze

NASHVILLE, Aug. 23.—Meredith Cox of Mount Sterling, Ky., and Miss Mary Peacock of Chattanooga, Tenn., saved the life of Miss Edith Cox, professor of home economics at the Oklahoma Baptist university. They are all summer students at Peabody College, Miss Cox was in the chemical laboratory when a large container of alcohol was overturned and ignited, and flames instantly enveloped her.

Miss Peacock in attempting to tear off the clothing of her classmate was badly burned on one eye and both arms. Seizing the burning woman then in his arms, Cox smothered the flames, although they had burned to bits the dress she wore. Miss Cox was in a state of nervous collapse, but was only slightly injured.

SIDEWALK PROJECT GRANTED APPROVAL

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—It took the city council about three quarters of an hour of arguing and a twenty-minute trip to the Harry M. Gall tract on West Chapman avenue for a personal inspection tour to decide in favor of permitting Mr. Gall to proceed with the laying of sidewalks as he had originally planned for his tract, "Mission Gardens."

Mayor Gunther had ordered work of laying the sidewalks stopped, following the complaint of a number of property owners in the vicinity that sidewalks were being laid around trees.

Mr. Gall, under the impression that the city council had approved his plans in full, was going ahead with the development of "Mission Gardens," planned by him as an exclusive home subdivision of the highest and most artistic order.

Appearing before the city council yesterday, he asked that he be permitted to go ahead with the work, stating that he had already spent much money on the project.

Mayor Gunther and Trustee Ainsworth maintained that the sidewalks should not be built around the trees, because it narrowed the walk. They argued that the trees should be removed, or the walks built on one side of the trees, and in a straight line.

According to Mr. Gall, the trees had a great value to the property from an artistic standpoint.

Following a heated discussion of over half an hour, a twenty-minute recess was called, during which time the board visited the tract and viewed the work.

The walks were found to be of ample width, and the fact that the trees were really of artistic value to the property determined.

Following the return to the council chamber, a vote was taken, and permission given Mr. Gall to proceed with the original plans.

The trees, according to Mr. Gall, will provide a pleasing, circular walk along the avenue, under their generous shade, and will be of great value to any house which they stand in front of.

Man's Mind Clears, But Name Unlearned

A stranger found wandering aimlessly about a ranch near Tustin had gone today as he came—unknown.

Although his mind, which appeared clouded when he was picked up on the William Cheney ranch, Prospect avenue, yesterday, cleared before night, his name was not learned at the county hospital, where he was taken when found.

It was discovered, however, that he was employed by James S. Hamilton, proprietor of a tin shop at Whittier, and he was returned home last night.

A STRAIGHT SPINE—STRONG BODY

A straight spine indicates a strong and healthy body; but a crooked, twisted spine means a weak body, ragged nerves, low vitality, and oftentimes terrible and long suffering.

Science has proved that when by Chiropractic Adjustment the spinal nerves are freed, the spine straightened, the human machine is 100 per cent efficient. Call today if you are not well.

News Briefs

Joe Schenkin, who owned a women's wear shop here several years, was a visitor in Santa Ana yesterday. Schenkin left this city several years ago on account of illness. He is now entirely recovered, and is in business at Riverside.

A last call was sounded in the Southland today for the Wisconsin folks to join in a big jolly picnic reunion at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Saturday.

Representative milk producers of Southern California counties were to meet at the farm bureau office here today for discussion of co-operative programs, according to announcement made by W.
M. Cory, assistant farm advisor of Orange county. Luncheon was to be served by the dairy department of the Orange county farm bureau at a downtown cafe.

The seven Southern countries poultry departments will hold a meeting at the farm bureau office here Saturday, it was announced today.

Two building permits were issued today for $5350 in new building, making the total for the month 107 permits for $225,801 and for the year 1050 permits for $3,661,522 in new building, according to records of W. S. Decker, building inspector.

CAFE AUCTION
AT NEWPORT
ATTRACTS

BALBOA, Aug. 23.—The Light-house cafe, "stormy petrel" of this city's amusement center, was in the limelight again yesterday for a few short hours while City Marshal J. A. Porter auctioned off the stock of the cafe to about 100 persons.

Approximately $350 was realized on the sale of the various articles.
A good amount of the stuff auctioned consisted of canned goods and other articles of food.

The result was, according to Mr.
Porter, that many housewives stocked their larders very cheaply.
The Lighthouse was closed some time ago by action of creditors through the Los Angeles Board of Trade.

A suit is pending against the former owners, Bert Spencer and Don Loveridge, in which Jack Harvey is plaintiff.

This morning, fifty tables were auctioned at the Syndicate warehouse at Newport. Under Sheriff
Ed French conducted the auction.

CHINA BOYCOTT IS HURTING JAP TRADE

TOKYO, Aug. 23.—The Chinese boycott of Japanese goods is digging deeper every day.

Japan's exports to China have now slumped seventy per cent, and the slump is getting worse steadily.

Chinese in Java, Singapore and India, as well as in China proper, have quit buying Japanese goods
as a protest against Japan's refusal to return to China the South Manchurian, or Kwantung leased territory acquired under the twenty-one demands.

Feeling against the Japanese is particularly bitter in central China and up the Yangtze river. There have been numerous fights and destruction of property in this region.

Throughout Japan chambers of commerce and business groups of all kinds, heavily hit by the boycott, have urged the Tokyo government to do something. Tokyo has sent a stiff warning to China—but since there's no government in China it doesn't amount to much.

Officials here say that Japan will go very far in enduring indignities in China—but not too far.
They say Japan genuinely wants to avoid having to use force to protect her nationals and their property in China, for fear of being accused again of trying to grab the country.

It is indicated unofficially that Japan desires to have an understanding, perhaps informal, with America and England, before she takes action in China, whatever the provocation.

SEPTEMBER 23 SET FOR FIRST SERMON HERE

The Rev. W. H. McPeak, new pastor of the United Presbyterian church here, will preach his first sermon in the local pulpit Sunday, September 23, according to a letter received here today by John A. Henderson Jr., a member of the pulpit supply committee.

"Writing from his home in Bradock, Pa., the Rev. Mr. McPeak advises us he hopes to be able to reach Santa Ana by Thursday, September 20, said Henderson. "Unless present plans miscarry, we will have the pleasure of hearing him preach the following Sunday."

In his letter to Henderson, the Rev. Mr. McPeak, stated that he hoped to be able to arrange for at least one of his daughters to attend one of the Southern California universities.

"He has three daughters," said Henderson, "and two of these will probably attend school in Santa Ana. The oldest girl may go to Pomona college."

The Rev. Mr. McPeak, who succeeds the Rev. J. G. Kennedy, resigned, has never resided in the West, but spent about a month in Santa Ana prior to receiving a formal call to accept the pastorate here. He has held his present position in Bradock for more than six years.

HEAR S. A. MAN SELLS LAND FOR $3,000,000

Has P. J. Weisel, former proprietor of an automobile agency at Anaheim, sold his citrus holdings near Santa Fe Springs to the Standard Oil company for $3,000,000?

This was the question friends of Weisel in Santa Ana and Orange county were asking today, following an unconfirmed report that the thirty-three acre orange grove of Weisel, situated almost in the heart of the great oil district, had passed to the Rockefeller organization.

According to the report, Weisel, who sold his surface rights several months ago, has also disposed of his oil rights in the citrus grove. This report, however, was denied by H. V. Weisel, brother of Weisel, residing in Anaheim. Weisel could not be reached in person. At his La Habra home it was said he was on vacation in the mountains.

"If my brother has sold his oil rights to the Santa Fe Springs ranch, it is news to me," said H. V. Weisel, discussing the report with a Register representative. "It is true that he sold his surface rights, at the prevailing citrus prices, some months ago, but I have heard no confirmation of rumors that the Standard Oil company has bought his oil rights for $3,000,000. In these days of oil flurries one can hear all manner of reports."

Weisel said if his brother had sold his holdings to the Standard Oil company it would mean that the United States government would be considerably enriched thereby, as a great percentage of the money thus obtained would go to the government.

"I am inclined to think my brother still holds his land rights," Weisel declared. "He has said nothing to the contrary."

Two Tots Scalded to Death While at Play

Preparations Made To Remodel Front Of Rossmore Cafe

Preparations were being made today to remodel the front entrance and windows of the Rossmore cafeteria, which now is under the direction of Fred N. Shultz. Design of the front which will be of Spanish-Italian style, was drawn by W. G. Kays, local architect.

Shultz said that during remodeling period the cafe would be closed. The work should be completed in a week, he said.

Much work also has been done to the interior of the dining room. Space has been added to provide suitable food display counters, and the entire kitchen remodeled and equipped. The cost for the completed job was estimated at $5,000.

ELKS BARBECUE FEATURES YET ARE MYSTERY

The squirrels and the gophers are going to have some mighty slim pickings at Orange county park tomorrow afternoon and evening.

According to W. W. Wasser, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., there will not be enough left for a canary bird's breakfast after the mighty herd of "Bills" stage their famous "clean-up" during the annual barbecue and picnic.

Tentative plans call for a busy afternoon, with "Stormy" Gordon, "Pete" Bessel, "Doc" Rossiter, "Bill" Jerome, Fred Ross, Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Chief of Police Claude Rogers and other dignitaries taking the lead in making 400 or 500 Elks and their guests happy.

"Mystery stuff!" Secretary Wasser parried, when asked to give some highlights on the program.

"Were telling 'em nothing in advance. Let 'em come and be convinced. Be assured of one thing, however—there will be no dull moments."

Entertainment features, beginning about 3 p. m., will continue until about 6, or until the entertainers fall in their tracks. You can bet your hat there will be some surprise packages."

Duffy, the Elk chef, was not so reticent. Between smiles he admitted that dainty delicacies for particular palates will be the order of the day when the big family sits down to dinner at 6:30 p. m.

There were veiled hints that some celebrities will be in attendance.

PLAN TO STAGE 'ROBIN HOOD,' 'CARMEN'

"Robin Hood" and "Carmen"—these two operas are to be given by the Orange County Choral union, "Robin Hood" in November and "Carmen" in the spring. Announcement to this effect was made today following a meeting of the directors of the union at the studio of the director, Ellis Rhodes.

The director is now selecting the cast for "Robin Hood," and has set September 4 as the date for the first rehearsal.

Definite plans for accepting associate memberships of the choral union have been determined by the directors. An associate membership will be sold for $5. That entitles the associate member to three tickets to each of the choral union's operas, "Robin Hood" and "Carmen." These memberships may be procured from the secretary, Charles Wollaston, at the county assessor's office.

1924 MODEL

THE STUDEBAKER BIG-SIX SEVEN-PASSENGER TOURING CAR $2040

1924 Model Big-Six Again Leads in Intrinsic Value

Many motorists who have always insisted on the best in everything they buy, have discarded their heavy, bulky, high-priced cars and have replaced them with the Studebaker Big-Six. And they report that, in every way, it represents precisely their conception of what a really fine motor car should be. They are enthusiastic over their all-round satisfaction with the Big-Six because of its dependability, surplus power, extreme comfort for seven passengers, the completeness of its equipment and its fine appearance.

The series 24 model—the finest Big-Six Studebaker ever built—presents a value unapproached by other cars at any where near the price. And its nominal cost of operation is a source of continual satisfaction.

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to an extra disc wheel complete with tire, tube and tire cover; handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; automatic gasoline signal mounted on instrument board, and many other features.

The low price of the Big-Six is due to large volume, the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants and Studebaker's vast physical and financial resources.

After 71 years of service, the name Studebaker enjoys confidence and respect more than ever.

Wedding Celebration
Crowned by Dinner
At the Inn

Extremely varied in nature were the different delightful events attending the nuptials yesterday afternoon of Miss Mabel Dorothy Bartling of Madison, Illinois, and Adolf C. Dittmer, prominent young business man of Orange.

The nuptial ceremony itself found an elaborately beautiful setting beneath the St. Cecilia window at Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside with the young people taking the vows before the Rev. N. T. Jensen, the double ring service being effected.

A song recital preceding the ceremony presented Miss Ruth Lotter and Elmer Gunther in a set,
"Whither Thou Goest I Will Go," with Professor J. M. Helmuth at the organ and Miss Mina Umm playing a violin obbligato. Mr.
Gunther then sang "God Bless You Mine," after which the nuptial music heralded the approach of the bride, a winsome picture in her gown of heavy satin-brocade and crepe beaded with pearls and fashioned with full court train. The long folds of her veil she bore a coronet of pearls and she bore a bouquet of bride's roses centered by a single perfectly orchid and showered with lilacs the valley.

Miss Aurelia Syge who came from Chicago to be her friend's wedding, was a charming honor maid, gowned delicate pink crepe over pink silk. The rhinestones which sparkled from her soft folds, also covered the band which encircled her waist and she carried a cluster of pink roses.

Little Elsie Grotz as flower girl in a fluffy little frock of lavender and carried rose petals in a dainty basket.

Mr. Dittmer was attended by Ernest Jensen as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party hastened to this city where an elaborate reception was staged at St. Ann's Inn where the new Mr. and Mrs. Dittmer will be guests for a brief period.

After guests were seated, they were ushered to the dining room where tables arranged in an incomplete triangle, were adorned with exquisite pink roses. At the center was a smaller table bearing a beautiful wedding cake centered with roses. This was first cut by the bride after which it was finished and served with the sweets course of the delectable wedding supper.

Music and happy congratulations were featured at the reception when guests attending the new Mr.
and Mrs. Dittmer included the parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bartling of Madison and Mr. and Mrs.
Adolph Dittmer of Orange; Miss Aurelia Steege of Chicago; Miss Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grote, Miss Eleanor Grote, Mr. and Mrs. Garmis, Mr. and Mrs.
L. D. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Struc, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Helmuth, Mr. and Mrs. E. Loeschner, Mrs. Craemer, Mr. and Mrs. F.
W. Rumm, Mr. and Mrs. Gus
Stark, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Liden,
Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. William Klug, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Intorff, Mr. and Mrs.
Alfred Huhn, Mr. and Mrs.
D. A. Blank, Mr. and Mrs. C.
Heim, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bandick, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Gunther, the Misses Lena Grote, Lydia Dornell, Ruth Jensen, Faye Dooling, Esther Jensen, Helen Craemer, Emma Gunther, Elmer Loeschner, Ruth Loeschner, Minnie Grote and the Messrs. Elmer Gunther, L. G.
Gunther, Walter Loeschner, Charles Dooling, Meinert Grumm, Harold Dittmer and Joe Schuessler.

The wedding completed a romance begun two years ago when the bride came with her parents to winter in Orange county. The friendship then formed between the two young people grew with subsequent meetings and about three weeks ago, Miss Bartling arrived with her parents for the wedding.
Since she is the only child in the Bartling family and the Dittmer family consists of sons alone, the union of the two is a particularly happy one as Mr. and Mrs. Bartling are rejoicing at gaining a son while the Dittmers have at last won the daughter for whom they've longed.
The young people will make their home in Orange where a pleasant apartment awaits their return. Mr.
Dittmer is associated with his father in the Dittmer Drug store of Orange.

Simple Summer Slipovers Showing Graceful Lines
Remain In High Favor With Ease-loving Womankind

There's many a slip
'Twixt the neck and the hip.
Is the modern version of the old saw. For with women adopting the slipon style of frock so enthusiastically, there really isn't much else worn nowadays.

It has seemed that slipon styles have grown prettier with each successive season until this summer as it waxes, brings the most attractive of all. And they are so simple, which probably explains their charm to the modern girl.
Simple as they are, though, there's not one but shows the influence of new lines. No garment is too simple to be fashionable!

Notice the low-bosomed bodice of one of the models reproduced—the wide belt fitting snugly around the hips. An inverted pleat outlined with stitching forms a full length front panel on another. A third has top and bottom stitched together in the same zig-zag line as that used for chemise frocks.

Long or short sleeve blouses are worn with these sleeveless dresses and they may be tailored or frilly, as one prefers.

Seventieth Birthday Is Celebrated By Happy Surprise

Having attained her seventieth year, Mrs. Josie Antisdell of Hales-worth street was royally entertained Tuesday afternoon, August 21, at the home of her son, Jay Antisdell, of North Main street, where he and Mrs. Antisdell welcomed a group of friends in honor of their mother.

The lovely home was adorned with bright flowers and ferns in such profusion as to create the effect of a garden. In the dining room, tables were banked with redations and centering the one where Mrs. Antisdell sr. was seated at the place of honor, was a huge white birthday cake which was cut with a pretty ceremony and served with other delicious cakes and ice cream to the assembled guests.

These included in addition to
Mrs. Antisdell, guest of honor, Mrs.
Arries, Mrs. Sturgeon, Mrs. Decker,
Mrs. Church, Mrs. Barck, Mrs.
Griffin, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Hedley and her little daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Neff, Mrs.
Blanchard sr., and Mrs. Blanchard jr., Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. Marston, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Sandon and the hostess, Mrs. Jay Antisdell.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining the guests by her sister, Mrs. Hedley.

The party planned as a surprise, was a complete success as the honor guest was unaware of the plans until her friends gathered. She was showered with loving wishes and many lovely gifts for which she expressed her thanks in her own sweet way.

Calumpit Camp

Calumpit Camp and Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, had another happy time Tuesday evening at Orange county park where a "feed" like the soldiers of '8 enjoyed, was served at 7:30 p. m. and consisted of beans cooked in different ways, "slumgullion," hard tack and coffee. This was added to by the addition of potato salad and dill pickles. Ninety-four people attended the feast which was presided over by Henry G. Miller, senior vice-commander.

Comrades M. C. Cooper and Frank Rowe looked after the coffee making and showed by their proficiency that they had served their apprenticeship some time in the past by having been put in that much honored class of soldiers called "Kitchen Police" and Comrade Botkin must have been in the same class judging by the manner in which he helped serve the coffee.

Much amusement was aroused by the comrades joining in a yell composed by D. C. Denny of Fullerton, a guest of Comrade Miller. It sounded something like this:
"Here we are, U. S. W. V., Full of beans, out, out, out!"

Though we consider ourselves as
"Vet., Believe me, Gang, we're not dead yet."

At 8:30 they adjourned to the dance pavilion where the entertainment of the evening opened with Mrs. Beulah Botkin playing "The Star Spangled Banner" while all stood at attention. Then with Comrade Benjamin F. Botkin as master of ceremonies they played "Automobile." Three certain were chosen and in turn they chose up lines and the name of a make of automobile. Mrs. Edith Camp, captain of the winning line, chose the Jordan car; Mrs. Janet Offutt, with a Buick car, was second and Miss Mildred, with a Stutz car came in last. Much cheering and coaching marked the game.

Happy Outing at Beach Enjoyed Yesterday By Past Noble Grands

When members of the Past Noble Grands' association of Torosa Rebekah lodge motored to Newport Beach yesterday in accepting the dinner invitation of the district deputy president, Mrs. Bert Annin and the Fullerton Past Noble Grands, they enjoyed one of the pleasantest events of the season.

The attractive Holcomb cottage which Mrs. Annin is occupying, was converted into a garden of dahlias for the day through the friendliness of the so-called "Impossible club," whose members are made up of Rebekahs who are neither part noble grands nor in any likelihood of ever joining their ranks, through a disinclination to hold office. The "Impossibles" added greatly to the day's pleasure by their gift and their laughing acceptance of a sad fate.

Dinner was served cafeteria style and platters were heaped high with succulent fried rabbit, fish, a variety of salads and other delicacies finally ending with apple pie a-la-mode.

The afternoon offered swimming, especially enjoyable to a group of youngsters accompanying their mothers, while chatting, needlework and pleasure of the beach offered additional entertainment.

No program had been arranged but much pleasure was given by Mrs. Clara M. Liedtke and Mrs.
George Ford in groups of impromptu readings.

The next social affair of Torosa members will be an all-day meeting with Mrs. Frances Goepfer at Balboa, with a pot-luck dinner to be served at noon.

Hostesses yesterday were Mesdames Mary M. Annin, Ellen A.
Burdick, Ellen A. Woodward, Pearl
Garrison, Maude Hamby, Clara Liedtke, Marie Beck, Minnie Stovall, Pearl Moodie, Ida Nell Hollenbeck, May Glaze, Alice Goodwin, Margaret Ustick, Ida Compton, Blanche Bartshe and Harriet Hete-brink, all of Fullerton.

Their Torosa guests included
Mesdames Dora C. Higbie, Fannie
M. Lacy, George W. Ford, Vada
Pankey, Martha McKee, Ida Garey,
W. G. Gould, Isabelle Buck, Mattie
Bowers, Frances Goepfer, Susanna Mullinix, Mary E. Cooper and Maude Swarthout. Youngsters in the party were the Misses Bertha Annin, Myrtle Annin, Gertrude Stanton and Marjorie Annin.

Announced Engagement Of Popular Girl Is Shower Incentive

In recognition of the happy news of the betrothal of Miss Marie Golden and Mr. Charles Hammons of Fullerton, was a charmingly arranged bridge and gift shower given last night by Mrs. Leland Plavan at the home of her parents,
Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Warner, 204½
South Sycamore street.

Quantities of flowers were used with decorative effect. Several tables more employed for bridge and those not inclined to play occupied their time in hemming tea-towels for the "glory-box" of the bride-elect. Mrs. Plavan gave attractive prizes in the bridge contest, Miss Lois Wiggins scoring high, received a quaint condiment set of salt, pepper and mustard holder in Japanese workmanship while Miss Marjorie Warner was given second prize of a silver hot dish mat.

Refreshments served in two courses followed the bridge session and as the guests regaled themselves they were entertained by "advice to a bride" to which each had contributed her bit and which was read aloud by Miss Golden.
Mrs. Plavan used French bouquets to adorn the tables for the serving of the appetizing little supper.

The final event of the evening came when Miss Golden was giving a seat of honor in front of the fire place and a table of gifts placed before her. The gifts comprised all manner of lovely things in silver, crystal and linen with a generous sprinkling of more utilitarian articles designed for a bride's kitchen.

The happy bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C.
Golden of East Chestnut street and a graduate of Santa Ana High school. For nearly two years past she has been at the William Lor-renz jewelry store where her friendly courtesy has won her a host of friends. Her fiancé, Mr.
Hammons, is salesmanager of the Studebaker garage at Fullerton and one of that city's most promising young men. Their wedding is expected to be an event of the early autumn although Miss Golden has not announced the date except to a very few close friends.

Asked by Mrs. Warner to honor the bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. I. C. Golden, and the mother of the hostess, Mrs. N. J. Warner, Mrs. Frank C. Annin, Mrs. Ralph
Cole, Mrs. Roy Handy, Mrs. Jack
Campbell, Mrs. Eldon Fuller, Mrs.
William Johnson, Mrs. Russell
Johnson, Mrs. Leonard Warner of Villa Park, Mrs. Jules Hilton, Mrs.
Lawrence Bemis, Mrs. Clement Hayte, Mrs. Edwin Holmes.

The Misses Lois Wiggins, Marjorie Warner, Ruth Violet, Donna
Horton of Los Angeles, Maude Whittinger, Velda Fuller, Frances Baker, Margaret Wylie, Gladys
Blakeley, Elsie Fluor, Virginia Metzgar, Roberta Dawes, Gwen-dolin Hoyle, Blanche Hill, Hazel
Johnson of Los Angeles, Rebecca Joplin, Holly Lash, Louise Plummer, Alice Wassner and Suzanne Parker of Minnesota, daughter of the late Senator F. J. Parker who is visiting her grandmother, Mrs.
Parker of North Ross street.

Many similar pleasant affairs are scheduled for the pre-nuptial calendar of Miss Golden. Among them is a party for which Mrs. Russell Johnson has issued invitations for Thursday, September 6.

Is a Bad Back
Wearing You Out?

Do you rise in the morning lame and stiff? Drag through the day with your back a dull, unceasing ache? Evening find you "all played out"? Likely, then, your kidneys have weakened. That's why you have those headaches, dizzy spells and bladder irregularities—why you feel so tired, irritable and depressed. Don't delay! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!
Here's a Santa Ana case:
Mrs. C. M. Madison, 901 E. Sixth St., says:

"My back didn't bother me, but my kidneys were troublesome and weak. I was feeling very poorly in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the start and have practically cured me of kidney complaint. I seldom have any sign of kidney trouble now."

Pleasant Evening When Friends Gather For Host's Birthday

Returning from an errand up town Tuesday evening, Ben Lieberman thought to surprise Mrs.
Lieberman, whom he supposed to be chatting with a girl friend in the living room of their home at 812 South Van Ness street. Bounding into the room with a true Comanche yell, he was the one to be surprised, for Mrs. Lieberman was aware of his coming and with her, instead of the single friend he expected, were a dozen or more assembled guests, gathered to celebrate the birthday of the surprised host.

A happy evening followed with hearts as the principal amusement feature. Mrs. Elwood Smith and Leavitt Ford proved most proficient at the game and received attractive prizes, while consolation gifts were made to Mrs. Ford and Ralph French, who held low score.

Much excited merriment resulted from a contest in which each one present tried to pin a curly tail to an otherwise tail-less pig.
The host himself was winner and received an appropriate gift.

Mrs. Lieberman then spread the card tables with pretty luncheon cloths and served cake with ice cream and a fruit syrup. The tables were centered with small clusters of brilliant red geraniums, like those used in profusion throughout the pretty home.

Invited to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the host were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dykeman and Mr. and Mrs. William Carr of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph French and Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Ford of Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Russell of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lykko and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood
Smith of this city.

COAL STRIKE CRISIS CAUSES CONFLICTING FLUCTUATIONS ON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—News developments presented a curious picture today which was mirrored in a series of conflicting fluctuations on the stock exchange.

Advances regarding the anthracite strike ranged from a vague threat by the bituminous miners that they might join the movement, to word that the government may attempt to avert the strike by injunction.

Some gasoline prices were slightly lower. In this uncertainty one group of issues was being bid up while another was experiencing distinct selling pressure. American Can, Baldwin and similar industrial leaders enjoyed a brief but nevertheless pronounced rally in the morning hours. Simultaneously there was another outbreak of selling in the oil group.

The market closed steady. U. S. Oil Well Machinery Company Is Defunct

New York, Aug. 23.—The Lucy Manufacturing company of New York, manufacturer and distributor of oil well machinery, which owns or controls similar businesses in Texas, Tennessee, California, Wyoming and Mexico was placed in the hands of receivers in equity in federal court.

The company's liabilities were fixed in excess of $2,235,000. Charles E. Miller and Thomas H. Barkerville, who were appointed receivers, stated that the company's difficulties were precipitated by the appointment of a receiver for its subsidiary, the Lucy Manufacturing company of Tennessee, several days ago and that heavy inventory losses during 1921 and 1922 had made a reorganization imperative. They expressed the belief that the receivership would be of short duration.

The defendant corporation owns all of the capital stock of the Lucy Manufacturing company of Tennessee. It owns all of the capital stock of the General Supply corporation of California, 80 per cent of the capital stock of the Grand Tool company of Los Angeles and all of the stock of the Lucy Manufacturing company of Mexico.

Fugitive Under Jail Sentence Is Sought

RED BLUFF, Aug. 22.—Officers in Tehama county still are looking for Ray Haney who pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace E. F. Lennon's court to a charge of possessing liquor and who, it is stated, is now a fugitive from justice. Haney was fined $200 or 200 days in jail.

Haney is said to have indicated he wanted to change his plea to one of not guilty and appeal the case when Justice Lennon advanced the time for paying the fine. Haney thereupon asked for two hours in which to raise the fine money and disappeared meanwhile. He has not been heard of since.

Hornets In B. C. Agog; Lumber Mills Closed

NELSON, B. C., Aug. 22.—Hornets have forced the cessation of timber operations in the region around Erie, B. C. The principal camp affected is at Fruitvale, which was forced to close down. The insects not only made conditions unbearable for the workers, but created a great accident risk.

BEST HUSBAND MARKET HELD AT JAVA

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Java is the world's greatest husband market.

This information was given out for the benefit of the world's surplus women by Mrs. Whitney Sperry, San Francisco society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side (metaphorically speaking, of course). Not human wrecks or doddering derelicts, but fine, handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

Isle, Heat Intense.

"The heat is so intense there that most women refuse to go there," Mrs. Sperry said, "so the only alternative these men have if they wish to exchange single blessedness for married bliss is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women. In Hongkong I have seen so many American and English women stranded without a cent whose real reason for going to China was to get married. They are most of them over 30 and more or less unattractive, and they heard incorrectly that there were so many more English and American men than women. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal."

Writers Scored.

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof.

"I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed," she said, "the scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And these beautiful maidens one hears of—they are far from all of them, and sloopy. Voluptuous, yes, but oh! so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation there, gone to seed. Of course there is quite a colony of writers and artists, but even a large number of these have gone to seed."

Many Marry Natives.

"What struck me particularly was the number of white men, educated and cultured, many of them successful writers or painters, who married the native women. On the way over I became acquainted with a very well known author whom we shall call Jones. He was as interesting and charming a man as one could wish to meet. The day before the boat landed I noticed that he was very nervous and impatient. He paced the deck all day. I asked an artist, whom I shall call Smith, why Jones was so anxious to land. The reason, it appears, was that Jones had a native wife whom he was most anxious to see."

EUROPE NEWS SENDS GRAIN PRICE DOWN

All Offerings Firm. Fractionally Lower As Anxiety Is Shown

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Grain prices closed fractionally lower on the Chicago board of trade today.

The market showed an uneasiness throughout the session due to anxiety among local dealers regarding the status of relations between France and England.

Good buying in September wheat by big short interests, made that by September corn featured the day's trading in all grains. A disposition in all quarters to sell was apparent from the outset and prices gained only slightly on occasional rallies. It finished in lower December and May corn followed on downturn, each closing 1-4c lower.

There was little trading in oats. The finish was at seven figures for September and fractionally lower for the deferred deliveries. Provisions closed higher.

JACKIE IN BEST PICTURE OF SCREEN CAREER.

Jackie Coogan, as Toby Tyler, a youngster who runs away from a harsh uncle's farm to join a circus, rises to the greatest heights of his screen career in "Circus Days," now showing at the West End.

A forlorn little figure with his widowed mother on the farm, he is buoyant, cheerful, mischievous and natural as the happy-go-lucky vendor of peanuts and lemonade under "the big top." Though his new boss is a tyrant, the circus has its compensation. There is Luigi, the old clown, who takes him under his protective wing, and then there is Jeannette, Luigi's niece, the tiny equestrienne star of the circus.

The big denouement comes when Toby tries to aid Jeannette and suddenly finds himself a star of the circus instead of merely a peanut merchant.

Jackie is given splendid support in "Circus Days," which is an adaptation of James Otis's "Toby Tyler." Peaches Jackson, an exquisite little screen actress, who portrays the role of Jeannette, is to be seen as his leading lady. Barbara Tennant is to be seen as his screen mother. Russell Simpson plays the part of the harsh uncle, Eben Holt.

ANITA STEWART PICTURE SCORES AT YOST

"The Love Piker," proved to be novel and interesting at its premier presentation at the Yost theater last night.

Anita Stewart, well-known star, is cast as Hope Warner, who considers herself a superior person. When a traffic officer stops her for exceeding the speed limit she waxes indignant. Close behind comes Martin Van Huisen, who steps out of his car and hands Hope a sash scarf, explaining that it had fallen from her car twenty miles back. Both are arrested for speeding.

So it is that this pair meet again in the traffic court the next morning. It develops that Martin is a construction engineer in the employ of Hope's father. It is not long before Hope announces her engagement to Martin. Many surprising and unexpected incidents mark their courtship.

Playing in support of Miss Stewart is an exceptionally strong cast which includes Robert Frazer, leading man; William Norris, Carl Gerard, Arthur Hoyt and Betty Francisco.

DETECTIVE PRAISES PICTURE FIGHTING DOPE.

"Every right thinking individual in the United States is aroused over the revelations of the dope menace," says William J. Burns, director of division of investigation of the U. S. Department of Justice. "Nothing can bring home to them with greater finality the serious effect of this treacherous curse than a motion picture starring Mrs. Wallace Reid."

"The picture which Mrs. Wallace Reid has made should be shown in every city, town and hamlet in America and should be given the widest publicity by the press and the pulpit. It will teach a great lesson and do immeasurable good for all mankind."

Mrs. Reid's purpose in making such a picture is a distinct contribution to all humanity and present-day civilization.

"Human Wreckage" is now showing at the Princess theater here. It is a summons to battle to fight without quarter against dope.

Plan More U. S. War Memorials In France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The erection and presentation to the village of Cantigny of a set of memorial fountains and water supply system by the National Geographic society forms another unit in the chain of American war memorials in France.

At the conclusion of the war the society had funds donated by members for hospital work. This balance was devoted to the erection of a memorial to American heroes at a suitable place in France. Cantigny, because of its historic significance as the successful beginning of active warfare by the American army, May 28, 1918, was selected as the site by General Pershing. The presentation was made in the presence of representatives of the state and war department of the United States and a delegation from the American Legion.

It was accepted by the mayor of Cantigny and military and civilian officials of the French republic.

ANTI-DRUGS MOVE IS GIVEN APPROVAL

A list of prominent Santa Anans who are in sympathy with the anti-narcotic movement was given out here today for publication.

The paper bearing the signatures bore also the following paragraphs: "Opium addiction is not simply a vice or a habit. Its victims, however formed, are really sick and in need of intelligent medical treatment. All people must know of the danger of the continuous use of opium and its derivatives."

"Thousands of men, women and children are being added yearly to the army of victims—the drug addicted! Further medical study and research are needed to aid in the solution of this problem—the cause of which is ignorance, the result of which is misery, the remedy of which is education."

The paper was understood to have been circulated by motion picture interests.

Those who signed it were: J. W. Tubbs, president board of trustees; Sam Jernigan, sheriff; John B. Cox, justice of the peace; the Rev. F. T. Written for every girl who craves luxury. Taken from the everyday life of millions of American misses. Heart-interesting because of its vivid realism. Entertaining because everybody knows an Alice Adams.

A faithful adaptation of Booth Tarkington's most successful book, it relates the story of a pleasure-starved daughter and her search for romance and happiness.

Perfectly portrayed by Florence Vidor, who gives the finest performance of her career. Emotional, impulsive, winsomely beautiful and altogether lovable—you can never forget her.

The other parts are perfectly interpreted by Vernon Steel, Claude Gillingwater, Margaret McWade, Harold Goodwin, Thomas Ricketts and Gertrude Astor. Rowland V. Lee directed.

COMPLETE CASE AGAINST PAIR IN 'BUBBLE'

With a mass of evidence ready for presentation to the federal grand jury in connection with asserted misuse of the mails by Dr. W. R. Price and Ben McLendon, promoter and attorney, respectively, a force of federal land agents today was engaged in whipping into shape in Los Angeles the government's charges against the two men, charged with responsibility for the famous Orange county "land bubble" involving the huge Irvine ranch.

Although the preliminary hearing of Price and McLendon was scheduled for next Tuesday before United States Commissioner Long, it was reported that virtually no action will be taken at this time, United States District Attorney Joe Burke preferring to take the case before the federal grand jury, called to meet Friday, Aug. 31.

The asserted misuse of the mails arose in connection with a scheme whereby numerous persons were secured to make home-stead entries on portions of the Irvine lands, under the plea that the original grants were invalid. This has been held groundless by the federal authorities.

Price and McLendon, recently arrested on federal complaints, were released on bonds of $10,000 each.

MEMORIAL FOR VETS PLAN OF PRESSMEN

The International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America has completed the ground work and preliminary details attendant to the establishment of a great memorial, which is to be dedicated to the veterans of World war who were members of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, according to word received by local members of the union.

The memorial will be in the form of a chapel which will be used for religious ceremonies of all denominations and dedicated to the services of the 554 members of the Pressmen, Assistants and Paper Handlers' International Union who were enlisted, and to the memory of the 111 who paid the supreme sacrifice, and representative of the organization in the United States and Canada.

It is estimated that the Memorial chapel will cost approximately $50,000 and will be located on the properties of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America at Pressmen's Home, Tennessee—the name of the city which is owned by the International union and at which place has been established a sanatorium for tuberculosis, a home for incapacitated members and a great technical trade school engaged in instructions in printing. The International headquarters of the organization is likewise located there.

The finances necessary for the completion of the Memorial chapel is assured. The bulk of the money is being assembled by popular contributions from members and friends throughout the United States and Canada.

The delegation will cross the Mojave desert today, drive to Mono lake and Tioga pass tomorrow, reaching Yosemite for a week's stay, Saturday. The return trip, which will be made by way of the Big basin, the Santa Cruz groves of redwoods and Monterey, will be made beginning September 1.

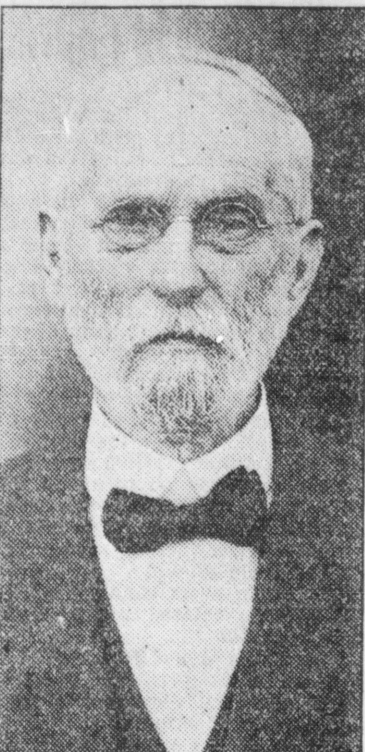

The trip will mark the close of the summer camping season for the Orange county council.

Mother and Children Meet After 23 Years

RENO, Nev., Aug. 23.—A mother was united with her children, grown to man and womanhood, in Reno, after a separation of twenty-three years, during the last fifteen of which neither children nor parent had heard from one another. In 1900 Mrs. Edwin Longfield left LaBelle, Mo., for her sister's home in another town to care for her, taking with her a six months' old baby and leaving three other young children with their father. While she was gone the father moved west with the three children left in his care, and later Mrs. Longfield divorced him, marrying Samuel Davis.

JOHN McELREE

IN MEMORIAM

John McElree was born, of Scotch-Irish parentage, in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, April 5, 1840, and died at 317 Hickey street, Santa Ana, August 17, 1923. When he was 8 years old his parents moved to Columbiana county, Ohio, which was then regarded as the frontier of the Great West. Here he attended school and helped the family to carve out a home, enduring the hardships and enjoying the pleasures incident to pioneer life. Believing there were greater opportunities for young men farther west, he left his home in 1862 and migrated to Hardin county, Ohio, then a sparsely settled region, which was to be the theater of his active and successful career. He acquired valuable timber and farming lands and soon established himself as a substantial member of the community.

In 1868 Mr. McElree was united in marriage to Mrs. Leah M. Scribner, whose maiden name was Owen, an attractive young widow, whose husband had been killed in the battle of Chickamauga. She has been a faithful and efficient helpmate through more than a half century of wedded life. Mrs. McElree, together with two sons by her first marriage and three sons and two daughters of the McElree issue, all survive except the older daughter, Mrs. Carrie J. Reeder, who died at Huntington Park, Calif., in 1918. All the survivors except one son reside in Southern California and were present at the funeral.

Together with his brother, Joe, John McElree engaged in the sawmill and lumber business in Hardin county from 1865 to 1875 under the name of J. & J. McElree company. This proved to be a prosperous venture, giving the two brothers a standing for ability and integrity which they ever after retained. John served as township trustee and county commissioner and filled many positions of trust in the settlement of estates and other legal matters. After closing out the lumber business he devoted himself to high class farming and stock raising, in which he was eminently successful. Being a man of keen intellect, fine judgment and tireless energy he came to be known as one of the most capable and highly respected citizens of the county. As a farmer he was progressive and far-seeing, enjoyed a wide acquaintance and his advice and opinion were frequently sought.

On account of failing health, Mr. McElree retired from active labors in 1898 and in 1904 came with his wife to California, locating in Santa Ana. The change of climate and environment gave him a new lease on life, and by abstemious living he enjoyed tolerably good health in the Golden state for nearly twenty years. He retained his mental vigor almost to the last and never lost interest in the world of events. He was a close student of politics and had a comprehensive knowledge of men and affairs.

In 1872 Mr. McElree and his wife united with the Blanchard River Christian church, near Dunkirk, under the ministry of the Rev. William Dowling, and they have ever been consistent members of that denomination. As a husband and father Mr. McElree took much pride in his family, had high ideals of family and social life and was uniformly kind and helpful. His home was a center of hospitality and good cheer. The survivors of his family and a large circle of relatives and friends sincerely mourn his departure.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. F. D. Porter from the Smith and Tutthill chapel, Santa Ana, Monday morning. Interment was in Inglewood cemetery, Los Angeles county.

Jinx Numeral Held Unlucky for 12 Men As 13th Draws Gun

STEBENVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 23.—Thirteen proved unlucky for 12 of that number of colored laborers shooting craps at the La Belle Inn Works.

Twelve were ranged on one side of the table. The thirteenth stood on the other side, rolling the cubes.

One of the twelve grabbed for the stakes. Number thirteen pulled a pistol.

As it flashed, the dozen sat quickly to "duck" the gun. All rose hurriedly and required hospital and tailoring attention. They had sat on a scorching hot fuel pipe.

STANDARD CUTS GAS PRICE TO 15 CENTS

Fifteen-cent gasoline became a reality in Southern California today.

This was the prevailing price announced by officials of the Standard Oil company in Los Angeles. In Santa Ana patrons of gasoline stations today were buying gas at 15 1/2 cents per gallon.

It was explained that there is a differential of one-half cent between Los Angeles and Santa Ana. With this reduction in price it was explained by local agents of the great oil companies that gas has reached the lowest price prevailing here for a number of years.

The highest price was 27 1/2 cents, prevailing in November, 1915. Although the two-cent reductions were designed to apply to Southern California, there will also be a reduction of one cent a gallon elsewhere in California and in Nevada, Washington, Oregon, Alaska and Hawaii.

"Flush" production of crude oil at the wells was given by officials as the cause of the reduction. In Los Angeles, where the gas "war" has raged for several weeks, some independent stations were selling gasoline as low as 6 cents a gallon.

POST ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF CAST

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Pearl Dalton of San Diego is expected Saturday for a visit at the C. B. Dalton home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gates, formerly of Orange but later of Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilchrist of Selling, Okla., are expected to arrive in Orange to make their home here. They have driven across the country and tried to make the trip before school opened, as the two Gilchrist children plan to enter the Orange high school in the fall.

Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Dalton and family are planning to go to Santa Monica Friday to the Pacific Palisades. They will return Saturday, but are to spend all of next week at the beach camp meeting.

The Orange post of the American Legion entertained the cast of the Legion play "A Buck on Leave," with a dance in the hall last evening. It is estimated that fifty couples were on the floor to enjoy the good time. The Livesey brothers and the Coe brothers furnished the music for the dancers and their work has been very highly commended. At a late hour refreshments were served to the young people.

This is the second time the Legion has honored the play cast, as at the conclusion of the second performance of "A Buck on Leave" the actors were given a "feed" and dance.

LOCAL YOUTH FINDS GUN PRACTICE LURE

One of the most interesting features in connection with the United States army summer training camp at Monterey is the target practice, according to a letter received here today from Douglas Cummings, an Orange county student who is attending the army school.

"I have mastered the breathing and am practicing the 'trigger-squeeze' in shooting," young Cummings writes. "I am trying to learn to shoot well with both eyes open."

"In rapid fire, at a range of 200 yards, and firing ten shots to the minute, I made a score of thirty-six out of a possible fifty; and in slow fire practice, I made forty-two of a possible fifty."

"We are firing with regular army guns, with high-power ammunition. When the gun goes off, it kicks like a 12-gauge shotgun. The muzzle jumps up about a foot. I am trying for a marksman's medal before the camp breaks up. I hope to start home next Friday."

Cummings adds that the camp facilities are first class in every particular and says the big Y. M. C. A. tent is equipped with a radio outfit.

WOMAN'S CLUB OUT TO CLEAR DEFICIT

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—A cafeteria supper and dance will be given Monday night at Orange County park by the women of the Orange Women's club for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to pay off the remaining debt on their lot on Center street.

The women are planning for the erection of a club house in the fall.

"We wish to clean up a few remaining little things before we start on the big job of building our clubhouse," Mrs. L. P. Darnwood, president, stated.

"We will start serving at 6:30 o'clock and will serve until everything is gone. Then we will start dancing," she explained.

FOURTH STREET STORE FRONTS "MIRRORS" OF BUSINESS CLAIM

Business Thoroughfare Presenting New Face to Shopping Throng

Wave of Remodeling Progressing From End to End of District

Fourth street, which rapidly is gaining a new and higher skyline, also is presenting a new face to shoppers. A score of established stores on the street have been remodeling their fronts in recent weeks. Others are in process of remodeling, while the proprietors of many more have plans under way.

"The front is the mirror of the store," declared the owner of a clothing establishment, which has just been provided with a new "mirror" that cost over $5,000. His neighbors on the street eloquent brevity.

"Store fronts should represent the quality of stock we are asking our customers to buy," said another merchant. "That is one reason why the store front was remodeled. It had gone out of date while the stock continued to improve in quality and value."

Fourth street stock has been improving fast was the opinion expressed by a banker. The improvement has been shown in increased property values, the more expensive buildings being erected,

First Classified Business Telephone Directory Presented

With the compliments of Earl Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, the first Orange county telephone directory containing the first classified business directory in the history of the district, was presented direct from the press to J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today.

"The secretary of a chamber of commerce," Morrow declared, "probably is the one man in any city, who through the multiplicity of his own troubles, has sympathy for the manager of the telephone office."

'BAREFOOT' CHICKEN THIEF PLIES TRADE

A barefoot thief in an automobile was being watched for today by the authorities, in connection with the theft of fifty chickens from the A. G. Casper ranch, two miles west of the county hospital.

Footprints and the tracks of the car were found near the chicken house after the loss was discovered. According to information given the sheriff's office, suspicion pointed to a woman who had appeared shortly before at the ranch, seeking to purchase fliers. She had been seen in the neighborhood several times subsequently, it was said. That the footprints might have been those of someone acting for the woman chicken-buyer was considered possible.

The chickens were all of the same breed as the eighty-five fowls stolen several nights ago from the home of Mrs. A. E. Philbrook, at Greenvale.

HIGH VOLTAGE TRUNK LINE PLANNED

Magnitude of Electrical Development Explained By Manager

"Few people realize the magnitude of electrical development on the Pacific coast," said F. J. Airey, district manager of the Pacific States Electric company in a recent interview.

"When present plans are completed a high-voltage trunk line will span the eighteen hundred miles between the Canadian border and Mexico. This gigantic achievement of co-operation and engineering skill is significant, even for the West where electrical development has already made such remarkable progress."

"The lines of this system will reach across barren deserts, they will climb mountains and even deliver power to far-off Nevada mines. The flexibility of this interconnecting super-power system will make it capable of overcoming even the uncertainties of the weather. If rainfall is light in the South, water scarce and the electrical load heavy, reserve power can be instantly sent from Washington and Oregon. By this means water power will be conserved, since it will enable the community to deliver its surplus power into the general system and deliver it to remote districts as needed."

Two Gaps Remain
"At the present time two short gaps only remain to be closed in this great power circle. After this is accomplished the super-power lines will be capable of delivering nearly six billion k.w. hours of energy each year. It will mean continuous and abundant power for commercial, industrial and home use over an area of 324,000 square miles."

Second Program
"Parallel to this great movement for the development of electrical energy is another program of great importance not only to the electrical industry but to the public. It marks another achievement in co-operation for the electrical industry on the Pacific coast. It is the first comprehensive program for making the tremendous amount of electrical energy which is being developed really effective in the home."

It is the intention of the sub-dividers to have all improvement work fully completed before the rainy season starts.

Portland Body Fears U. S. Ship Monopoly

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 23.—Recommendations that the government's fleet be disposed of to private interests are contained in a memorial addressed to the Shipping Board by the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Danger of development of a monopoly through government operation is the principal reason for urging sale of the fleet, according to Frank I. White, manager of the foreign trade department.

MOUNTAINS SETTING FOR FASHION SHOW

On an especially constructed sylvan stage high in the San Bernardino mountains many miles from the congested pavements of Southern cities numerous beautiful manikins will parade Friday evening in what probably will be the most unique fashion show ever conducted in Southern California.

Although the setting for this novel event will be rustic and unlike the usual surroundings for such events of fashion, the dresses and apparel which will be shown will be of the latest vogue. In fact, the show, which is being staged in conjunction by Frank Culver, of Forest Home, and Blackstone's, will be the premier of the numerous fall shows which will follow in all Southern California cities in rapid succession.

Besides the two professional models, Miss Winifred Steckle and Miss Elsie Duenfing, several amateurs representing Southern cities will appear in the parade. Everything shown, which will include afternoon, evening, sport wear and lingerie, has just arrived in the Southland from New York and Paris and the fortunate guests of the resort will be able to lay plans for their fall wardrobe without disrupting their summer vacations.

Harold D. Nickel, display manager of Blackstones, is in charge of the exhibit. A special costume ball in the outdoor pavilion at Forest Home has been arranged for the honor guests, the amateur manikins.

A Norwegian is said to possess a sixth sense of discovering hidden or lost objects.

There are two bird monuments in the world, one in Salt Lake City and the other in Italy.

The new Fullerton city hall, designed by W. Horace Austin, A. I. A., architect, and with John C. Austin, F. A. I. A., and Frederick M. Ashley, associate architects, will be erected on the corner of Spadra road and Whiting avenue.

It is to be two stories and basement, brick exterior walls, steel frame inside, concrete floors, exterior stucco finish, terra cotta trimmings; steel sash, drawn metal doors, terrazzo floors on interior lobby, terrazzo loggia and front steps. There will be a Spanish tile roof, interior in plaster and exterior loggia in travertine plaster.

In the basement there will be a large assembly hall with stage and dressing rooms and motion picture booth for showing of films from the chamber of commerce and other societies. There will be a community kitchen, meeting room for Ladies' Auxiliary, American Legion and other civic societies and clubs; there will be public toilets, storage rooms and boiler room. The building is to be heated with steam heat.

On the first floor there will be the open loggia, through which one enters the building, opening into a large central court with beautiful seagliola column and ornamental skylights overhead. The first floor will house the water department, tax collector's office, city manager's office and various offices in conjunction with other city activities; large quarters for the chamber of commerce and public toilets.

The second floor, accessible from the lobby, up the marble stairways on either side of same will be the quarters for the city attorney's offices, stenographers, council chamber, space for city council, court-room, judges' chamber, constable, public space, city engineer, wiring, plumbing and building inspectors, city drafting room, vaults required for various departments, public toilets.

On the third floor has been arranged a blueprint room for the use of the city drafting department.

SUBJECT TO BE CHIEF TOPIC OF BUSINESS AT FOUR FUTURE MEETINGS

The plan of the civic planning commission urging creation of a civic center on the site of the present junior high school on North Main street was heartily endorsed today by numerous leading business men representing various interests here.

It was intimated that discussion of the proposed civic center would be the chief topic of business at the next meeting of the library board, the board of education, the city council and the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce directors.

Individual members of the civic organizations expressed their approval of the projected center.

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said: "The civic center proposed by the planning commission should be given full support. Santa Ana is coming to the realization that there will be here a city of 100,000 people. The tie to plan for the comfort of those people is now. Creation of a civic center now is a logical step in the growth of one of Southern California's most prosperous and promising cities. The planning commission personnel is to be complimented on its initiative."

Claude L. Killen, member of the city council, said: "The civic center scheme is splendid. I cannot think of a better place in which to locate Santa Ana's civic buildings. There will be room on the junior high school site to locate a city hall, public library and a commercial club building, such as other cities have found to be an advantage. I recommend that we get behind the civic planning commission and make good the proposed civic center."

Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, said: "Though it is beyond my power to speak for the board of education in this matter, as an individual I wish to extend my endorsement of the civic center scheme proposed by the planning commission. The scheme seems feasible. That is greatly in its favor. The matter undoubtedly will be given serious consideration at the next meeting of the board of education."

Dr. C. D. Ball, president of the Santa Ana library board, said: "The projected civic center on the site of the North Main street junior high school speaks well for the future of Santa Ana. Location of the library in the center would be logical. Our present improvement plans however must be given further consideration. We are under at least a moral obligation to Mr. Carnegie, who made our library possible. The civic center plan however will occupy an important place at the next meeting of the library board."

Dr. C. D. Ball, president of the Santa Ana library board, said: "The projected civic center on the site of the North Main street junior high school speaks well for the future of Santa Ana. Location of the library in the center would be logical. Our present improvement plans however must be given further consideration. We are under at least a moral obligation to Mr. Carnegie, who made our library possible. The civic center plan however will occupy an important place at the next meeting of the library board."

"Second, that the city trustees take over the present junior high school block reimbursing the board of education for the same with a view of utilizing it at some time in the future, for a city hall and other public buildings."

"Third, that the library board withhold making any extensive improvements on the present site but instead plan to locate the library on the junior high school block either in a separate building or in a portion of a new city hall."

PLANNING BODY ACTS ON MAPS

That publicity be given to the action of the civic planning commission on subdivision maps presented to that body for approval was the request made today.

Resolutions adopted at the last meeting of the commission in this matter included:

Resolved, that this commission disapprove of map of Tract No. 548, subdivision of the W. 1/2 of the E. 1/2 of the SW 1/4 of Sec. 10, T 5 S, R 10 W, S. B. B. & M., for the reason that we do not believe it suitable for subdivision purposes, on account of past experiences from overflows of the Santa Ana River, and the danger from possible repetition of the same.

Resolved, that this commission approve of map of Tract No. 543, portion of the SW 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of the SW 1/4 of Sec. 13, T 5 S, R 10 W, S. B. B. & M., of the Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana.

Unanimously carried, that map of proposed Southwestern Addition submitted to the commission informally for recommendations, be approved.

RESOLUTION AS ADOPTED BY CIVIC BODY

The resolution of the civic planning commission urging a civic center as proposed by Colonel S. H. Finley, president of the commission, freed of its formal tone, was as follows:

"The library board is contemplating extensive improvements on its property at Fifth and Sycamore streets and the board of education in the not distant future doubtless will feel the necessity for new buildings for the Francis E. Willard junior high school either on the present site or at some other more commodious location, the rapid growth of the city will, within a few years require more space for city hall purposes than the present building and ground afford."

"We believe that before any of these improvements are made the whole scheme of public buildings should be considered with relation to each other and to the future interests of our city."

"We submit therefore for the serious consideration of the boards responsible for the policy and management of these various departments the following suggestions:

"First, that the board of education secure a new location for the junior high school of more generous proportions and at a point further removed from the business section with a view of when the time is opportune erecting new buildings thereon."

"Second, that the city trustees take over the present junior high school block reimbursing the board of education for the same with a view of utilizing it at some time in the future, for a city hall and other public buildings."

Bridgegroom Missing; Also Gems of Bride

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Mystery still surrounds the whereabouts of Alexander Gordon, 37, broker, who disappeared a few days after his marriage to Mrs. Alice Shedd of New York, 38, widow of W. H. Kearsey, tea broker. Mrs. Gordon told the police she was unable to locate jewelry worth $5,000, missing simultaneously with the disappearance of the bridegroom.

IT COSTS NO MORE TO BUILD WISELY—

just remember this—that you pay the price of good materials anyway, whether you get them or not. If you do not get sound, strong, durable materials in the first place, you pay for them in repairs on the poor stuff—little nagging bills that never end and discourage you with home building and home owning. DO NOT RISK THE WHOLE SECURITY OF YOUR INVESTMENT FOR THE SAKE OF SAVING A FEW HUNDRED DOLLARS.

Lumber and other building materials can be purchased from the Barr Lumber Co., by builders with the assurance that they are obtaining a dependable product of uniform quality. Its use reduces repair bills to a minimum and it can be put into construction with a minimum of labor.

Busy Bank

While the First National bank is erecting its six-story building, the Orange County Trust and Savings bank is engaged in completing remodeling the interior of its banking quarters.

W. A. Huff and company, clothiers at 109 West Fourth street, has increased its frontage from 31x9 feet to 42x18 feet.

"Our window space does a big part of the selling," declared H. J. Lowe, secretary and manager.

Walter Vandermast of Vandermast and Son, clothiers, at 110 East Fourth street, said:

"The store front is the mirror of the store. That is why we remodeled the front of this store. We wanted to mirror our growth."

The Army and Navy department store is one of the stores reported to have plans underway for remodeling.

Among those who recently completed remodeling were the Stock jewelry store, the Great Western department store, and the Dickey-Baggerly furniture shop.

Raiders Discover Hens Laying 'Real' Egg-nogs

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 23.—Chickens that lay egg-nogs have been discovered here, as the result of a prohibition raid at the home of Mrs. Adelaide Code.

Prohibition agents raided the Code home, arrested Lucian Code and his wife, and poured 4000 gallons of liquor into the chicken yard. The chickens immediately staged a bacchanalian orgy with the illicit ingredients.

A neighbor borrowed a Code egg and whipped it into a glass of milk. The effect was a cross between TNT, and a flagon of the queen's best. Instantly, there was a rush for Code eggs.

Prohibition agents are now looking up the Volstead act to see if an automatic egg-nog laid by an alcoholic chicken is illegal.

Santa Ana Trades House for Large Alfalfa Acreage

Frank True of Santa Ana has purchased the 60-acre alfalfa ranch of F. W. Armour, located between Sanderson and Kirby streets, a mile west of Hemet. This is regarded as one of the choicest ranches in the valley. Armour says that out of the 1,500 acres of land he has owned in the valley this is the prize place.

True expects to move in the near future and will erect modern buildings and make other improvements on the place. Sixty shares of Fruitvale water stock goes with the ranch, as well as a complete pipeline distributing system.

Armour takes in part exchange a handsome residence property at 1725 Main street, Santa Ana.

JAP PRINCES SEEK SPORT LEADERSHIP

TOKYO, Aug. 23.—Crown Prince Regent Hirohito and his brother Prince Chichibu are running a race for popularity and sport leadership in Japan.

The future Emperor is in the lead. Perhaps no member of the Japanese Imperial family has ever been held in as much popular esteem as he is. His latest stunt is to climb Mount Fuji, Japan's Sacred Mountain, the ascent of which every Japanese hopes to make at some time. During the summer season, when the snow has gone and the trails are passable, thousands of pilgrims from all over the empire flock to Fuji and swarm up its sides. The pilgrims are garbed in white. They wear girdles of jingling bells. They pray at the many shrines up the mountain, and the objective of one and all is to reach the very summit in time for sunrise, and bow low and cry, "Banzai!" to the "rising sun of Japan," as it sweeps up from beyond the sea.

Well, the Prince Regent went up Fuji just like anybody else—the first of his line ever to do this thing, which means so much, sentimentally, to every Japanese. The people hailed it as just another proof that their future Emperor is a regular fellow.

Prince Chichibu, the second son of the Emperor, is known throughout Japan as "the sport Prince." He presided at the Far Eastern Olympic Games at Osaka this year. He goes in for all outdoor sports himself. He's good at tennis, baseball, polo, swimming and track stuff.

As customers preferred fish with red gills, a Parisian fishmonger painted his wares with red ink. Unfortunately an official inspector relied upon his nose rather than his eyes, with the result that the fishmonger was heavily fined for selling bad fish.

Gives Up Dangerous Stage Trick; Meets Injury In Own Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—For ten years, William Dunbar performed difficult acrobatic and gymnastic feats on the stage without one fall. He was mighty proud of his "perfect record" during his stage career.

He retired when he figured that his calling on the stage was too dangerous.

Offstage, Fate tripped him up.

He fell down a short flight of stairs at his home, fracturing his skull, and was rushed to a hospital in a critical condition.

ILLINOIS SOLON TO URGE 31-2 PCT. BEER

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 23.—Beer will help enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, according to Congressman R. C. Dyer, St. Louis.

With this in view, Congressman Dyer plans to introduce at the session of congress next December a resolution to amend the Volstead Prohibition Enforcement Act by authorizing the manufacture of beer with an alcoholic content of three and one-half per cent.

"Most people will be satisfied with good beer," is the way Dyer put it. "They would then help enforce the law as to intoxicating liquors."

Dyer's amendment would fix the alcoholic content of beverages at 2.75 per cent by weight, which would amount to about 3.50 per cent by volume.

"This quantity of alcohol in beer is not intoxicating, and I have abundant proof of that assertion from hearings held before the house judiciary committee of which I am a member," he said. This committee will receive the resolution for consideration after its introduction.

A similar resolution will be introduced in the senate.

"All this turmoil, dissatisfaction and unrest should convince a congressman that a change is desired. The law is not being enforced, even though a horde of prohibition agents is at large. This failure in enforcement is inducing disrespect of law and making more law violators."

Attacks Fly While Shaving; Cuts Ear

BICKNELL, Ind., Aug. 23.—Ode Parker of this city struck at a fly which was annoying him while he was shaving. He shoed it off with his right hand in which he held a razor, and nearly severed his ear from his head. Seven stitches were taken to hold it back in place.

2 JOBS IN 25 YEARS RECORD OF EXTERIOR CHIEF FOR 'Y' HOME

Front door exterior work being completed at Santa Ana's new $200,000 Y. W. C. A. Insert, H. J. Meenahan, in charge of terra cotta finishing, proof of whose ability is the Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside which structure he has improved during the past nineteen years, a pretty steady job.

Only two jobs in twenty-five years.

That is the record of H. J. Meenahan, who is superintending the installation of exterior terra cotta ornamental work on the $200,000 Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. building, at the northwest corner of Sycamore and Church streets here.

Meenahan is 53 years old and has raised a family, the members of which now have established their own homes, and are off his hands, he said, with the chuckle of a man who considers a job well done.

Meenahan's record of twenty-five years may not seem great to those who hold positions in banks, commercial houses or such establishments. But it would be difficult to find another man in the building trades outside of Europe who has held but two jobs in that length of time.

Most of his time, Meenahan said, he has been working for his brother-in-law, Frank Miller, famous master of the Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside. Meenahan was there nineteen years, he said.

"The last Easter sunrise service on Mount Rubidoux was the first service I have missed since institution of the annual event," declared Meenahan. "I worked on Rubidoux and the Mission Inn for nineteen consecutive years."

When one considers the beauty of Frank Miller's hostelry at Riverside he gains some idea of the workmanship that is going into the exterior decoration of the Y. W. C. A. building here.

"Frank did not want me to leave," Meenahan continued, "but I felt that I needed a rest. When we put in the bridge on Mount Rubidoux we worked for weeks on end without a rest and with but few hours sleep."

"There was so much interest in the work there, so much of a desire to see how things would look when finished that we worked sometimes beyond our powers of endurance."

Meenahan has been looking for a rest ever since. He chuckled again.

"I thought I would get a chance to take a good long vacation down here. But my present boss, Karl Martin, is almost as bad as Frank. Always wants me to do one more job."

Meenahan seems entirely oblivious to the subtle compliment to his workmanship of these men who always want to keep him employed. Even as he talked, with a blue breath of smoke floating from his pipe, his eyes were roaming over the numbered blocks that put into place will form the decorative exterior of the 'Y' building.

"Frank wants me to go back to the Inn," he continued. "He also wanted me to do some more work on his mansion at Laguna Beach." It was suggested that after the intense interest of the work at Riverside it would be practically impossible for him to resist returning eventually.

"Maybe so," he agreed as his eye lighted on a terra block hidden in a mass of straw, in which the carefully shaped pieces are packed for shipment.

It was the missing number and Meenahan no longer had time for reminiscence.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 23.—Clyde L. Seavey, president of the state railroad commission, is the first entrant in the horseshoe pitching tournament, which will be held here September 1-9, during the State Fair.

ORANGE COUNTY AUTO DEALERS ENTER FAIR

Members of the Orange County Auto Trades association, according to Manager R. D. Flaherty of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, to be held here September 25 to 29, will be among the leading exhibitors in the agricultural tent, following plans completed at a conference held here between Flaherty and members of the association.

Twenty-two booths will be devoted to automobile and accessory displays. The booths will be fifteen by twenty feet, giving the dealers ample space in which to display the latest models in automotive creations.

Flaherty discovered, much to his surprise, that only thirty of the 123 booths in the industrial tent are available to prospective exhibitors, and again urged upon Santa Ana and Orange county business men the necessity of securing space immediately for their exhibits. Flaherty is doing everything possible to hold this space for Orange county concerns, but the demands of those from outside districts, who are asking for space, are becoming so insistent that it will be impossible for the fair management to hold them off much longer.

In previous fairs, Flaherty said today, there has been a noticeable absence of a souvenir program for the general use of spectators. This year, however, one of the most complete programs ever prepared for a similar occasion will be supplied by the fair management.

Wide Publicity.

Manager Flaherty, in urging support for this publication, called attention to the wide distribution such a program receives, and is of the opinion that money devoted to advertising space will serve a double purpose. The program will contain much valuable Orange county booster publicity and visitors will be urged to send it broadcast, thus giving advertisers wide publicity for their wares, and the county some valuable advertising.

Prepared to explain the fair in detail to the luncheon clubs of the county, Kiwanis, Lions, Greater Santa Ana, the women's clubs and the Realty board will visit the various clubs of the county during the next few weeks and urge support of the county-wide event.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson is expected to deliver the main address when the fair opens on the Union Pacific right of way on East Fifth street, Tuesday, September 25.

Fugitive Slain As He Returns to Wife

LEWISTON, Mont., Aug. 23.—Gorton Burgess was shot and killed by his wife, Anna Burgess, a wealthy woman, on her farm just outside the city. In 1922 he broke jail and nothing more was heard from him until about ten days ago when Mrs. Burgess received a letter threatening Burgess' return to wipe out the entire family. Appearing at the ranch home later he tried to force his way into the house. Mrs. Burgess shot through the glass panel with a shotgun, according to her story, the full charge striking him in the neck.

SCOTS COMMITTEE PERSONNEL NAMED

Dr. Roy S. Horton, toparch of the newly-organized Santa Ana pyramid of the Ancient Order of Scots, today announced the names of committeemen who will have charge of arrangements for participation by the local pyramid in the monster gathering of Scots at Palos Verdes, September 22 and 23. At a meeting held here last night, John De Moulin, Los Angeles, addressed Santa Ana Masons, giving intimate details of the program arranged for this occasion.

Committeemen appointed by Dr. Horton include:

Ceremonial, R. L. Blisby, chairman; Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth, William Patterson, E. A. Buck, J. F. Kaufman, W. J. Carmichael. Reception, Henry Walters, chairman; Blue lodge, Ed C. Corneil, chairman; candidates, J. F. Kaufman, chairman; publicity, J. C. Horton, chairman.

With fully 20,000 Masons in attendance, De Moulin said, preparations will be made to afford visiting Scots and the members of their families every possible comfort and convenience. Ten airplanes will take part in stunt flying, there will be a sumptuous barbecue, and swings, games and other features will be provided for the children.

Boys' Heroism Saves Four from Drowning

HOBART, Ind., Aug. 23.—The heroism of three boys, all under 20, saved the lives of four persons trapped in an inclosed automobile which had plunged off a bridge and submerged in the Little Calumet River, near Hobart. The boys are Charles Davis, Chester Brownfield and John Locke, all of Portsmouth, N. H. They were in a car just ahead of a sedan occupied by I. Sohr of Cleveland and his wife and two children. The boys leaped into the water and dived repeatedly until they broke the door panels and released the family.

Machine Belt Whirls Out Life of Laborer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Guillermo Abanza, Brooklyn, was killed when his clothing was caught in a belt of a mixing machine in the plant of the Tartar Calico company. It was said he climbed to the top of a pile of pumice to make some repairs, when his clothing caught in the winding shaft. He was whirled about for ten minutes before a foreman stopped the machinery.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

C. S. Kelly Drug Store and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Allenru relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days. Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. C. S. Kelly can supply you.—Adv.

PORT PLAN IS FEASIBLE TO SOLON

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 23.—Endorsing the harbor project as entirely feasible and pledging his support toward an appropriation, Congressman Carl Hayden, ranking member of the Rivers and Harbors committee, today in a visit at Newport Beach with Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, stated that he believed Orange County's harbor project was already needed as a port on the Pacific coast.

"There is no question that the government should lend its aid to this project," he asserted, "because, as I understand, the city and county have already spent nearly $1,000,000 on harbor development, while the government, according to report, has only expended $250,000. There are three classes of people who expect federal help on harbors—those who believe the government should do all the work; those who declare the promoters should bear the expense, and those who concede that the government and the people interested should go 50-50."

Mr. Hayden was asked whether the bringing of a pipe line to the ocean pier and loading oil into tankers would be considered by the government as commerce or tonnage.

"Los Angeles, which claims to have more tonnage than New York, counts in the oil that is shipped out," he answered, "and this harbor would have every right to consider loading of tankers as commerce at this port. I am positive the Rivers and Harbors committee would so consider it in presenting your claims for U. S. aid as based on the showing of commerce to be made next December."

Auto Horn Defeats Suicide Plot, Aids Shortage In Funds

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 23.—Fate's little trick uncovered a bank defalcation, closed the bank, prevented a suicide and sent a man to prison—all because an auto horn was easy to touch.

A. H. Penfield, cashier of a local bank, slashed his wrists while seated in his auto in his garage. Unconscious from loss of blood, he fell over the steering wheel, his weight against the horn button.

Continued sounding of the horn attracted a doctor's attention. Investigation resulted in the bank suspending. Penfield is now in a penitentiary.

Placentia People Approve Plans for New Primary Rooms

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 23.—The purchase of the two lots on Baker street in Placentia for the location of the primary school house was approved at a mass meeting held there Monday.

The sum involved for the four lots is $5,000. It was decided at this meeting to lease a part of the adjoining property for playground purposes. With a view to purchase later. Bids are to be called for the construction of the first unit of the new primary school, which will include two large modern classrooms. The two old buildings will remain until enough class rooms are constructed to accommodate the pupils.

It is the plan of the school board to add additional units as the necessary funds are forthcoming for their construction.

The building will be of tile, with a plaster and stucco finish, and will conform to the other school buildings in this district. The officers who presided at the mass meeting, which comprised a representative audience, were Louis Jacobsen, chairman, Mr. Leavitt, secretary. Fred Wasson also spoke in favor of the site, while Clifford Farrar seconded his proposition. The new primary school will be located in West Placentia district.

CUP OFFERED BY REGISTER IN TOURNEY

BALBOA, Aug. 23.—The Santa Ana Register today had joined the ranks of those offering trophy cups for the annual Tournament of Lights celebration here Saturday evening. The Register's cup will be exhibited here today along with the other trophies.

J. A. Beek announced that more entries were being received daily and that every indication was that the tournament this year would be the most successful in the history of the night fete.

The yachts, motor boats, canoes, special floats and barges, all carrying colored lights, will give a fantastic effect seldom secured in America, it is said.

A spectacular feature of the pageant will be the lighting simultaneously of 144 giant flares set around the highlands and banks of the bay completely outlining it to the spectators, the object being to show visitors at one glance the scope of the harbor, which it is proposed to develop and improve for deepwater shipping.

The parade, or tournament, will start from the pavilion at 8 o'clock. Ample preparation has been made for the convenience of visitors, and as all streets are now paved with ample parking room for cars it is expected that the crowd will be well cared for. A 25-piece band will accompany the pageant on the water and furnish music at night as well as on Sunday following.

PRESS CHARGES AGAINST MAN AT POMONA

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 23.—With Hazel Wilson, 17-year-old daughter of a local rancher, held in the psychopathic ward of the county jail in Los Angeles, parents of the girl here today declared they would press vigorously the charge made against J. L. Stacy, 25 years old, of Anaheim and Long Beach, involving a journey taken by himself and the girl last week to Pomona, ending in the arrest of the pair in a rooming house there Tuesday night.

Stacy, sometimes known as Kelly, is held in Los Angeles on his failure to raise $1000 bail set by Judge Fields of San Dimas, sitting at Pomona.

The preliminary hearing failed to bring out much evidence concerning the trip taken by the pair from Anaheim, where the pretty Yorba Linda girl was working in a cleaning establishment. Stacy is said to have a wife and children in Long Beach.

Film Actress and Husband Involved Over Sale of Car

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 23.—An altercation here Sunday between Mrs. M. M. Barnette and her daughter, known in moving picture circles as Pansy Porter, with the husband of Miss Porter, has resulted in a warrant for the arrest of the son-in-law and husband. It was learned here today.

Miss Porter, who said that her husband is the salesman for a Long Beach motor agency, claims the trouble started when their heavy car became embedded in the sand. While her husband went to secure help she is said to have put boards under the wheels and extricated the vehicle. This action on her part, involving the possible burning out of the engine, is said to have caused the husband to become angry.

This week Miss Porter declared she was surprised to find that her husband had borrowed money from a Long Beach firm on the car, purchased in her name. The actress declared she remembered "signing something" to bring about a change in registry. Miss Porter also asserted that she had given her husband a $500 diamond ring which he had pawned.

"It is up to the union girls of the county, to make the event a success," say those in charge. "We will give them a few days more to enter their names, and if none are forthcoming then we will have to open the entry to the public."

It has been pointed out that the parade is going to be one of the drawing cards of the mammoth celebration, and outside people from all over the county have evinced much interest in it.

BEACH PARADE MAY BE OPEN TO PUBLIC

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 23.—Unless the relatives of Union Labor men show more interest in the bathing girls' parade, to be put on Labor Day, here, the entry list is to be thrown open to the public. It was announced by Mrs. James Sullivan, chairman of the committee, today.

Up to the present time it is said that very few union girls have taken enough interest in the affair to enter their names. "We have had to turn away several non-union girls who have applied," said Mrs. Sullivan.

It is thought that many of the union girls are hanging back until others have declared their intention of entering, but if they do not show their intention soon the affair is liable to take on professional proportions, as some of the bathing girls of Los Angeles are almost sure to enter if the parade has to be thrown open to the public.

Prizes are to be awarded as follows: First prize, $50; second prize, $30; third prize, $20. The entry list for the parade closes August 31.

"It is up to the union girls of the county, to make the event a success," say those in charge. "We will give them a few days more to enter their names, and if none are forthcoming then we will have to open the entry to the public."

"VAL," murmured Velantrie and said no more.

"Velantrie!" screamed the girl, unconscious of the staring crowd, "Oh, Donald!"

Then her father's hand was on her shoulder, lifting her bodily, a dozen other hands pulled the man away from her, and in the flurry that followed she found herself swung helplessly into her saddle, the reins put in her fingers.

"Ride," said John Hannon, the side her, and she rode—but the earth and the heavens tumbled about her and twice in the silent journey, when he did not deign to look back where danger certainly lurked in that bunch of men who followed Velantrie, the Boss of Paradise had to steady his daughter in her saddle.

Not one word did he ask her, then or after, about the whole affair, but put her in her own bed with his own hands and bade the women leave her alone, saying that she had had a turn and would be better soon.

CHAPTER XIX

The Black Rustler Rides
BUT the boss was mistaken. Val was not better soon. For three days she lay in her bed in the deep south room and scarcely knew day from darkness. Belle was terribly distressed and begged both her and John for explanation, but from the one she got only moans and silence, from the other the brisk assurance that something must have happened to one of the girl's friends in Leandra to upset her.

Through Val's poor brain there wound a tumbling train of thoughts, any one of which was cause for despair.

But she was young and magnificently healthy—and she had the courage of her father's blood. Therefore she rose and came forth to confront the household with haggard eyes and cheeks that had thinned overnight, it seemed—to find the riders tense and silent, her mother sad with the old loneliness, for the boss was gone again. One more had the far country called him and he had answered—answered on the hour, with his eagle eyes alight, his nostrils flaring.

And then Val came to Briston where he smoked alone in the patio under the stars, and put a hand upon his shoulder. He dropped the cigaret and reached up to take the hand in his, to hold it between his two big palms in the comforting silence of perfect understanding.

And Val, heavy-eyed with tears, sank down on the bench beside him and put her forehead where the hand had been. More than one soft head had rested on Briston's shoulder in the many years of his roving, but none that so pulled at his heart as this drooping black one.

Therefore he sat still and waited as the perfect friend waits. Presently, with a sigh, the girl said, "Tom."

"Yes, Val."

"Will you—can you—find out—if Velantrie—"

"Don't need to find out. Perly was in town a day or two back—an" they said at Humeval's that his men picked him up an' took him off, swung across that horse of his with a man to help him ride, an' that he was comin' round."

"Dios gracias!" whispered Val against his shoulder and Briston felt the whole tightening of her body, the seeming of new life and strength that tingled in her at his blessed words. She straightened up and pressed his hand and a great breath fluttered on her lips, a sigh of such relief as only words of life can bring. Thus long served his own in Briston's heart and made him glad at her joy.

So the rangeland drowsed. The Indian Summer passed and the first breath of frost came down upon the land, turning its sparse green to brown. The fall round-up loomed on the horizon—and the boss was still away.

Val was her old self, busy, efficient, saved for a new gravity, a strong repression that was with her always. She went often to Refugio, hoping against hope for word of Velantrie, but Father Hillaire was helpless to give it her. The oblivion of the Border had swallowed him at last, and deep in his wise old heart the priest hoped that it would keep him. Dear as the boy was to him, the girl was dearer.

And far in the Blind Trail Hills poor Redstar ran his endless circle, called at the twilight, tore at the saplings and ate out his heart, while far across the miles his beloved answered that unheard cry. And one by one the days went by and nothing new stirred in the cattle country. It was hard on driving time and Briston was wishing fervently for the boss.

The boys were overhauling the chuckwagon, looking to saddles and ropes. The feeling of fall was in the air.

And then came a night, soft and dark with many stars in the early hours and with promise of a great white moon very late.

It was one of the few nights left in the lap of summer from which the warmth was spilling fast, and Val swung in the fringed hammock and talked in a low voice with the men. Briston smoked on his accustomed bench, Siff and Rosy lounged on the hard dry earth, their slim young figures relaxed, while Dirk and Perly shared an other hammock nearer to Blue-water.

Out by the bunk-house one of the vaqueros strummed an old guitar and sang a Spanish love-song in a voice like a harp. At a window of the darkened kitchen, Fanita listened. Inside the adobe house Belle Hannon, to whom all night was day, all day night, played softly her plaintive tunes. Never in her life could Val bear to hear such music in the dark.

She talked in broken sentences with Briston, looking up at the stars. A thousand things moiled through her mind and she gave them voice, secure in the loving friendship that encompassed her.

"Tom," she said, "I asked dad once what constituted a good man—and he said a brave one, quick on the trigger. What would you say?"

The foreman smoked silently a while. Then he knocked the ash from his cigaret.

"A good man, Val," he said, "is the man who deals squarely by his fellows an' has such honest love of humanity in his heart that he can help th' helpless, even at risk of his neck—such love for one woman that he can serve her all his life, either rewarded or unrewarded—a man who can sacrifice."

What gentle intent was in the speaker's mind only he knew, and he said no more. But Val had instant food for thought—as perhaps he had intended.

And then, sudden as a shot in silence, came the voice of Perly from the other hammock.

"Tom," it cried sharply, "look there! An' there—an' yonder!"

With a spring the boy was on his feet, a slim shape, straight in the dusk.

"Good God!" he cried again, "th' signal-fires! Boys—th' Rustler rides tonight!"

Without another word he flung himself from the patio and they heard the sound of his running feet as he went toward the corrals. True enough. From down at the south line there rose on the sky dark a tall pillar of flame that was already answered from the south-west and the west.

Tom Briston stood tense, reading their messages.

"Raid," the one fire said, "at the flying Y."

He turned and looked west.

"We circle south," three red flares said.

Southeast two signals placed far apart told the rangeland, "We ride north," and beside the tall fire at the south two small ones close together bore Clendenning's faithful promise.

"We'll close in on the Blind Trail pass from the south."

Thus was a net formed, a trap laid, and anything driving within its circle had best ride fast for the pass—for the horses of the plains would soon be out. And they were hard to beat, those horses that had run at Santa Leandra. Dollar, the gallant Silskin, swift as waters flowing, black and wild—and all of Hannon's Red Blood that stamped in the home corral—for the ranchers were pledged to this and all must go.

With one accord the cowboys followed Perly, shouting, snatching spur and bridle as they ran—the guitar out at the bunk-house ceased its strumming, stopped by a flattening hand on its strings—the vaqueros ran to the horses, too.

Only Briston was left for a moment standing in the patio. A rasp caught his ear—a deep, short breath that seemed to come from drowning lungs—and Val Hannon stood beside him, swaying on her feet like a drunkard.

"Tom," she gasped, still as if she could not breathe, "Tom—my friend—"

Briston caught her tightly in the bend of his arm and looked into her face that shone white in the dark like a moon in fog.

"Yes, Val darling," he said.

"It—Again that awful gasping breath."

The girl gripped her hands, steadied her swaying body with the old sweet strength. Then the words came a bit more strongly.

"If they catch the—Black Rustler this night—don't—don't let—them—the cork Oak—"

She wet her lips that were stiff and cold—reached out a groping hand and touched the gun that always hung at the foreman's belt.

"Shoot—him, Tom," she said thickly, "straight—ah!"—it was a sighing breath—"in—the forehead—for me!"

"I will," said Briston and was gone.

CHAPTER XX

"Greater Love Hath No Man" TRAGEDY breathed upon the rangeland. Father Hillaire felt it, pacing in his dry garden.

Belle Hannon felt it and ceased her plaintive playing. She came, sure of foot in the darkness, to the east door that opened into the patio.

"Val!" she called.

100,000 EXPECTED AT BIG HORSE RACE

English Derby Champ Will Meet Best American 3 Year Old Oct. 20

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Preparations are being made by the directors of the Westchester Racing association to accommodate 100,000 spectators when Papyrus, winner of the English derby, meets the best American three year old at Belmont Park October 20.

Grandstand facilities will not permit of such a gathering and the infield which will be open for the thousands that will be willing to stand to see the biggest race of modern years in America.

Hardly had the negotiations been completed with Ben Irish, the owner of the British horse, when some objections began to be raised here and on the other side. In making the announcement of the race no mention was made of a "world's champion race," but it got in print and it did not make a hit on the other side.

British turfmen are not willing to admit that Papyrus is the best horse in England and French race followers set up the claim that Epinard, the French horse, is the fastest animal in Europe.

Some minor difficulties also have been encountered here. It is reported the owners of Zev, the great three year old of the Ranococas stables, do not want to start him in the trial sweepstakes which has been proposed as a means of finding the American color bearer.

They believe that Zev should be the American representative on his season's record.

Several other owners of horses not mentioned in the five or six candidates are also howling that they should have the chance to win the big prize.

Objections Don't Hold

Objections of British turfmen that Papyrus is not the best horse in England, should not hold, however, as the same condition exists here, where there has been no three year old of such outstanding ability that it could be accepted and run as the official American champion.

Papyrus will carry the colors of England as a derby winner and the best of the horses of the season and the American horse selected will be one that in opinion more than anything else is the best in the United States.

Regardless of arguments that are rather political, intense interest has been aroused in the race and if the officials are able to make room for 100,000 spectators, it is certain that many will see the race.

Society Girls Now Play Golf Attired In Seaside Suits

MARY ANNE JAUDON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 23.—

Kansas City society girls who go in for golf and tennis are not slaves to fashion.

Why, they even appear on the links and courts in their bathing suits! And think absolutely nothing of it.

"Freedom of body spells success in athletics," declares Mary Anne Jaudon, pretty debutante.

The girls all "pooh-pooh" the British Tennis Association's ruling in the Wimbledon meet.

But they believe Miss Susanne Lengien and other women net stars might well adopt the one-piece bathing costumes for their playing garb.

"They're so much more modest than the short, tight-fitting French outfits," says the bathing suit tennis girls.

So there you are!

EVENING SALUTATION

A good man doubles the length of his existence; to have lived so as to look back with pleasure on our past existence is to live twice. —Martial.

IT WILL WORK OUT ALL RIGHT

The California State Credit association and other organizations that went on record against the new community property measure failed to secure a referendum. There will be no statewide vote. Those who endeavored to hold it up failed to secure enough signatures to their petition. One reason for the failure was that some of the organizations that were supposed to be against it were only half-hearted in their efforts; they came to the conclusion that the measure was not as pernicious as they had been led to think it was.

Every two years for some years past, the state has had a fight over a community property measure. There was a fear on the part of title companies, banks, credit associations and others that a community property law such as had been proposed would disturb credit considerably. They declared that the property laws worked no particular hardships, that in a county the size of Orange county cases in which injustices are done under the old laws were almost unknown.

Previous to the opening of the last legislature it was announced that there was a community property bill ready to be submitted, one that had been drawn up by a committee of the State Bar association and accepted by the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which organization was responsible for the agitation in favor of the measure. The bill was passed, and was signed by the governor.

Now that the bill goes into the state's statute books, we believe that adjustments to meet it will be made without any of the difficulties that had been feared. Oftentimes we view a new law with alarm, particularly if the law upsets anything that has to do with our accustomed ways of doing business. And that, no doubt, will be the way the new community property law will work into its niche. Business will get accustomed to it in no time at all, and nobody will be any the worse off for it, while here and there it will extend to women property rights that otherwise would be denied them. And in the end the law will work out satisfactorily to all concerned.

LAGUNA BEACH'S FESTIVAL

Community efforts are always worth while. They bring unification of spirit; they make friendships; they point the way to further achievements.

Just now Laguna Beach is ready to present to its friends far and wide a product of its community effort. Tomorrow night, and again Saturday night, in the moonlight, Laguna Beach is to hold its Greek festival. Those who had the opportunity two years ago to see the Indian pageant and play presented at Laguna or who have attended any of the plays given by Laguna's players the past year will join with The Register in declaring that what Laguna Beach does in a dramatic and artistic way it does well. Its reputation for success in plays and pageants and festivals will undoubtedly be enhanced by the Greek festival that marks this week-end at Laguna Beach.

Laguna Beach has aptly called itself "the beach that is different." Without attempting to outline all the differences, we would call attention to the fact that Laguna Beach holds an unquestioned place in the artistic life of California. It is different in that regard because it is distinctively artistic. And its artistic ambitions are not alone in brush and paint and oils. It is seeking a place for itself in dramatics as well.

THE RIGHTS OF MINERS

The smothering to death of nearly 100 coal miners in Wyoming, coming in the midst of the anthracite coal dispute now interesting the country, has helped a little to keep the public perspective straight as regards coal miners and miners in general.

They may seem, at times, more "rough" and inconsiderate than some other types of workmen, more insistent on their rights, more fiercely determined to hold their own against capital and, if necessary, against the public. It is not likely that miners are naturally more unsocial or unreasonable than any other class of citizens. They are what their work makes them.

Hard toil underground, with the tendency to early exhaustion and serious disease, and the continual risk of sudden death in dreadful form, is not conducive to any special breadth of view, tolerance of thought and speech or a "light touch" in negotiation. The peril of death, too, no less than the requirements of life itself, has its rights which must be considered in any adjustment of working conditions and wage scales and in public judgment of the men themselves.

Now that people are taking to changing their nose styles, why not have a little surgical work on the type of nose that is always being poked into other people's business.

WILL FRANCE PAY?

Nobody need have been surprised, on this side of the water, by the sudden discovery that France has no apparent intention of repaying the money she borrowed from the United States. At the time the loans were made, and for some time afterward, it was taken for granted that those debts would be honored and taken care of in due time. But that was before the French change of front which has resulted, in the last two or three years, in alarming Europe and virtually isolating France from all her war associates except Belgium.

The French government and people, in their present mood, seem persuaded that whatever their legal obligations may be, they are under no moral obligation to pay the billions advanced them in money and materials during the war. France has paid a little over $200,000,000 in interest, but none during the past year, and has never paid anything on principal. The total debt, principal and interest, is now nearly $400,000,000. The French view seems to be that this country can afford the loss, and that it deserves to lose the money for not supporting France in its policy of military coercion to squeeze reparations out of Germany.

All this is unfortunate. America and France have always been friends, and should not allow any bitterness to develop between them over money matters, at least. France should be made to understand, however, that America is no Shylock, but has already made a huge contribution to France in renouncing reparation for herself, and that if America is to renounce any of her claims for money lent to France, it can only be in consideration of better guarantees for the peace of Europe than France is now giving. If France were to adopt a spirit of reason and conciliation, in which lies the only hope of future peace, she might find America willing to make liberal concessions.

Texas corn may be popping in the ear this summer, as the news reports say, but hereabouts we prefer to pop our own.

Greater Good to Greater Number

Riverside Enterprise.
Among the problems brought about by the rapid growth of the city of Los Angeles is the controversy between farmers and the municipality relative to water. The farmers of the Owens River valley are not the only ones who appear to be suffering from the program of the Los Angeles power bureau but those inside the city limits in the San Fernando valley, are now complaining that the city has failed to conserve the winter flood waters that should have been retained in reservoirs and that, as a result of taking care of power needs rather than irrigation needs, thousands of acres of alfalfa of the San Fernando valley will either die or will suffer greatly from the enforced lack of water.

Less than a year ago the Los Angeles group of power bureau politicians were attempting to take over the inland districts of Southern California from the inland districts of Southern California power sites that had already been dedicated to the use of this territory through the development work of the Southern Sierras Power company, under state control. The straits in which the farmers of the two districts mentioned above find themselves now indicate the consideration that would have been given agricultural and industrial enterprises of the inland empire of Southern California if it had come to be at the mercy of the municipal power politicians of Los Angeles.

The future will see many battles of one kind and another fought over the conflicting claims of agriculture and industry and those of great metropolitan cities. The future growth and prosperity of the cities is largely dependent upon agriculture and industry. Is it feasible, therefore to cripple the rural prosperity on the ground of serving the interests of the "greater number?" Time will bring the answer.

Molding Human Character

San Francisco Chronicle.
Superintendent of Schools Gwinn is evidently of the opinion that modern schools are not doing what they should do in the molding of human character. And he believes that work to that end should be done rather by systematically inspiring to high ideals than by emphasizing warnings against evil. And that sounds like common sense.

Superintendent Gwinn refers especially to the type of girls whom we call "flappers." Flapperism is not sin, but frivolity. In that it is merely a particular manifestation of a general tendency, which is impairing efficiency in many walks of life. As it inevitably leads toward unbecomable and disappointing lives, whatever the schools can do toward inspiring healthier forms of the recreation and enjoyment to which youth is entitled should be done.

The woman in the home has been the inspiration and leader to the greater part of all that makes life worth living. The struggles outside home have been fundamentally that the home might exist with increasing attractiveness. And in making the home happy women achieved their noblest ambition.

The exodus of women from homes to business will certainly impair, and may destroy, the comfort of home and the delights of family life. There is a marked weakening of the family tie in all classes of American society. The social family force is becoming centrifugal where it was once centripetal. And there is no doubt that it is due to the change in woman. The remedy is to restore the older ideals of womanhood.

And it is best for the women. Without a happy home the woman misses the fulfillment of her natural longing. And the type of the young women whom we call flappers does not attract the young men who will do most to help make home happy. Marriage should not be the stepping stone to the divorce court. Think it over.

Hazing Is Up to Students

San Francisco Chronicle.
President Campbell of the University of California has put the responsibility for hazing where it belongs—on the students. Human nature being what it is, a ukase of prohibition might have been only an incitement. He has wisely put it up to the students that they are gentlemen and sportsmen.

There is hazing that is harmless and often clever fun. Such even has its beneficial side. Incoming freshmen, trailing clouds of glory from their late exalted position as high school seniors, are not seldom a bit swell headed. A little good-natured taking down does not hurt them.

But there is always danger that hazing will degenerate into merely stupid cruelty, unmanly gang torturing of a helpless victim. The irresponsibles to be found in every crowd sometimes come to the fore. President Campbell has put on the student body the responsibility for suppressing them.

The University of California has a good record in this matter. Sensible students will maintain it. Public opinion will not stand for anything else.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

YOUR FAMILY HISTORY.

Perhaps you have wondered why the physician in examining you for life insurance asked you so many questions about your family history. You say to yourself, "I'm well and strong, am the proper weight for my height, and I'm seldom sick."

But just the same, you come from a certain kind of stock. Life was breathed into you, but into what kind of body—of body tissue did it come?

You are of the stock of your parents. If a man, with many of your mother's characteristics predominating, and if a woman, then with those of your father.

So the physician wants to know about your parents and about their parents before them. Were they strong and vigorous? Did they live their three score years and ten? Did they have any rheumatism, kidney, or heart trouble? In other words did they wear out early in life, or were their old age one of good health. If they died early in life, was it through some inherited tendency, or did they hasten their death by strain, worry, exposure, or excesses of any kind.

You see, we do not all start off even in this world, insofar as our bodies are concerned. And so the physician knowing this, with just the laws of common sense, heredity, and average at his disposal, along with the clinical evidences you present to him in your appearance, tries to figure out just how long you are likely to live.

If your family history shows tendencies toward any weakness of particular organs, just exercise ordinary care in the matter. This knowledge should be no source of worry to you. It should be simply a guide to ordinary rational living without excesses.

If you have a wonderful body and a good family history don't take foolish chances. You see the fellow with the strong body takes such chances owing to his strength that hidden damage is not discovered until it is too late.

A Back-Breaking Job

The Parent's Part

Portland Telegram

When a boy or girl goes to moral ruin, there is something wrong at home. This is the rule to which there may be one exception in a thousand cases.

Normally, father and mother have a radiant affection for the child. Its welfare is to them paramount to all other interests. Even a preacher, whose business is to look after the moral interests of other people's children, misses his calling when he does not spend much time chumming with his own children. Even such a man's duty is first to those of his own household.

A business man who leaves the greater part of the bringing up of the child to his wife because it is not as important business as is banking, or railroad management, or the sale of real estate or dry goods, or soft drinks; a wage earner who is too tired at night to play with his children—these are breeding trouble for themselves, for their children and for all the rest of the world.

The office man who buries his nose in his daily paper after supper and lets the children amuse themselves, and lets the mother put them to bed and do all the rest of the mothering, who thinks he does his quota when he scolds them for bothering him, is doing his full share in filling the scandal columns of the newspapers with stories of youthful delinquency. Better never read a daily paper than let it interfere with one's intimacy with the children.

A free lance writer in this issue very fittingly suggests that parents who permit daughters to be out on the street at night fooling around the edge of the bottomless pit should be punished by the court for criminal negligence. Such parents have something more to do than merely to incarcerate their children in the house after nightfall.

To make a home so attractive that children will choose it in preference to any outside attraction after dark, the parents must begin when the child is a baby. They must give of their time, of their very valuable hours, their tired hours, their recreational hours to the child—play with him, chat with him, read with him, romp with him, all in the house. This makes the home his social center. The movie and the public dance can never overthrow a home founded in this fashion.

When we moderns go out doors for recreation, we jump into a cushioned seat and go like the wind, we fly on wheels, go far and come back late physically tired and mentally blurred. One generation ago real parents took the horse and buggy, jogged a few miles to some open wood, creekside or lake, picnicked with the children, showed them how to catch sunfish or pull an oar on a row boat, and came home happier and better acquainted for the day's outing.

The little daughters of these people did not stand on the street corners at midnight looking for some stranger to come along with a joy wagon and pick them up for a ride. Such a performance was as far from their thought as suicide.

It is we parents who make or break the rising generation.

Worth While Verse

THE CAMPERS

Are we the Nomad's children, you and I?
Are we some age-old tribal law obeying?
That each recurring June must find us straying
On shining high-ways to our motor's purring.
Or mountain by-ways where the deer are stirring, Letting the cares and joys of home slip by?

Is this some heritage from old wandering folk?
We own no flocks, or herds or hungry kine
To urge to movement when the starry sign
Points that the summer solstice has drawn nigh.
When in our blood this too insistent cry
That calls us forth to breathe the camp-fire's smoke?

Are we the Nomad's children, you and I?
Descendants of some lean, hard-fighting race
Who drove the fat town-dwellers from their place, Roving and ruling—kindling then the fire
That filled the holy pilgrims with desire,
And flames in us beneath this Western sky?

Do You Think of Color?

Fresno Republican

Of course you see color!

You see the red, white and blue of the flag you love.

You see the color in the young girl's cheek, whether nature put it there, or a powder puff.

Perhaps you see the color in your wife's dress.

But do you think of color?

Do you think enough of it to enjoy it?

The highest delights that one has, are modifications of the most elementary.

That Alpine climber merely extends and modifies the pleasure that you have in ascending a nearby hill.

The man who invents a new sort of iced cream, tickles the same sense that you satisfy with sugar in your coffee.

The owner of a steam yacht has a sense of possession and of adventure that you may have with much lesser things.

The sense of color is one of the most wonderful at the command of the human mind. It is ingrained. Your most remote ancestors have it. You are very wasteful of your own opportunities if you do not develop it.

Don't slight it, because some one else wants you to make some use of it. Don't be just "contrary," like the matron who has dreaded the social influence of booze all her life and now thinks it is smart to show that she can beat Volstead in her cocktails.

Colors are simple, or blended. Nature provides that our eyes shall see certain qualities of light, and certain ones only. And these qualities fall into easy groups—simple ones—black and white and red and yellow and blue. These simple colors are striking to the eye. They appeal to our first impressions. They never lose their effectiveness. But they do lose their capacity to interest. There is nothing concealed about them. They are the primary colors.

And then, there are the colors that require a multiplicity of perception. They call for understanding, rather than just sight. They are the secondary colors.

There is orange, which is a mixture of red and yellow. It has the warmth of red, and the clearness of yellow. You look at it in one mood and you think of yellow; in another, and you see red. It is itself and yet it is two different things. A simple mind, you could imagine, would debate with another simple mind about orange. One would say it was red, the other yellow. Or there might be so little yellow in the orange that both simple minds would be unable to see anything but red. It would take an understanding heart to see the yellow in the combination.

So with green. It is blue, yet it is not blue. It is yellow, yet it is not yellow. It is both. There is so much green in nature that we think of it often as a primary color. But everywhere nature holds out the beauty of green to demand of us that we see her own duality. Nature in promoting growth did something that was not simple, and she clothed the fields and the forests in a studied effort. She made them green.

And, finally among the secondary colors there is purple—gorgeous, breathless, soul-stirring purple. It is blue and red combined—a most unnatural color, as the physicists will tell you, for it takes the colors from the extremes of the spectrum. It was worshiped by the ancients. It is loved by us moderns. It was the mark of empire. It clothes a modern democracy with a deepest sense of power.

The primary colors are striking. The secondary are rich.

The colors of the third degree are not striking. They call for an understanding of color, for a sense of proportion. You have to look twice or thrice, to be sure that they are colors. They mix red and yellow and blue. They are the olive tints of certain leaves in spring, the russet tints of leaves in autumn. They fade into the indefinite grays and browns. They show subtlety and reserve. They form infinite contrasts. They may be meager. They may have the pinch of material poverty, but never a poverty of thought.

Do you know colors? Do you think of them? Do you use them?

The Mystery

By Berton Braley

He married her because she dressed

In dainty fashion,

And thus aroused within his breast

The gentle passion;

She was so fresh, so trim and smart

That looking at her

Was quite enough to make his heart

Go pitter patter.

She married him because he seemed

As neat as could be.

His clothes were smart, his linen gleamed,

And, as it should be,

His face was shaven with skill adept.

He charmed her greatly.

A stylish chap whose garb was kept Immaculately.

But when the honeymoon was o'er

She grew a slattern.

The dowdy negligee she wore

Was bad in pattern.

While he, who won her heart with his Sartorial splendors,

Wore sloven shirts, unshaven phiz,

And soiled suspenders.

To lawyers now the pair apply

To be unmade,

And everybody wonders why

They separated!

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS

and his CUFFY BEAR ~

~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

The cage tipped alarmingly.

Then righted itself—with a bump.

ON BOARD THE RATTLER

That first day with the circus passed quickly for Cuffy Bear. About an hour after the crowds had fled through the menagerie tent on their way to the evening show, men began to fasten wooden sides upon his and Bramble's cage. The circus was getting ready to move.

Cuffy stood on his hind legs and tried to peep through one of the tiny square windows which had been left open to let in air. Presently the wagon creaked and jolted out of the circus lot, then rolled steadily along the road for a time.

At last it came to a halt. There was a good deal of loud talk outside. And then all at once the cage began to move once more, and tip in a most startling fashion.

"They're putting us on the rattler," Bramble the Bear explained. "Don't be scared. It's very seldom that a cage upsets."

Soon the cage was level again, and stopped with a bump that threw Cuffy Bear head over heels.

"There!" Bramble grunted. "We're all set for the night."

A long time afterward, when Cuffy had fallen into a doze, a clanging bell roused him. A fierce hissing and a horrible puffing brought him to his feet in terror.

Then two long-drawn toots, followed by two short ones, frightened him almost out of his wits.

"What are those dreadful sounds?" he cried in the darkness. As he spoke, he could feel that they were moving. They kept going faster and faster, with a rattety-rattety-rattle that grew quicker every moment.

"Lie down and keep still!" growled Bramble the Bear. "It's only the rattler that you hear."

But it was no wonder that Cuffy was frightened. It was his first ride on a railroad train. Cuffy Bear was glad when the train came to a stop, hours later. A faint light now found its way through the small windows of the cage where he and Bramble the Bear had spent the night.

"I wish they'd take the sides off this cage," Cuffy muttered. "I'd like to look out."

"They won't take 'em off until we get to the lot," Bramble told him.

"Well, it was a short night, anyhow," Cuffy remarked. "I think it's just about dawn."

"You're right," said Bramble the Bear. "We generally finish our night's run on the rattler before the old haymaker gets up."

By the time they reached the circus lot, the old haymaker—as Bramble called the sun—was sending his slanting rays into the cage through the tiny windows.

"Sh!" Cuffy Bear exclaimed suddenly. "What's that?"

"I don't hear anything unusual," Bramble answered with a yawn, while he stretched himself.

"I believe it's the Johnnie Green's voice," Cuffy Bear cried. (Copyright 1923, Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.) (Tomorrow—Bramble the Bear Has a Morning Grouch.)
